EIGHT AMBULANCES RACE TO STRATFORD STATION

BULLETIN

LONDON (AP)—Police said two trains collided on a subway line tonight and heavy casualties are feared. Eight fire engines and eight ambulances went to the scene.

The collision took place near a tunnel.

The accident occurred near Stratford, on the Central Line, which takes commuters from the heart of London to densely-populated residential areas of eastern London.

The subway runs partly above ground in this area.

Queen Mary's Hospital in Stratford and St. Andrew's, Bow, were advised to prepare for casualties.

Disarmament Talks to Start

UN Adopts Western Plan Despite Soviet Appeal for Modification

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly today adopted a Western plan for disarmament talks despite a strong appeal by Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky to modify it in the interests of East-West harmony.

The vote was 52 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with three abstentions.

The assembly agreed, however, to one of Vishinsky's suggestions. It adopted, without a vote, his appeal that it drop commendation of the work the disarmament commission has done so far.

The Soviet delegate also proposed that the West agree, in order to "meet the Soviet Union half way," in making concessions, that the assembly drop references to the original resolution which set up the disarmament commission last year.

This was turned down, 33 to 10, with 13 abstentions.

U.S. delegate Ernest Gross and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb argued that eliminating references to that resolution could give the impression the West was abandoning its insistence on international control of atomic energy and a balanced reduction of armed forces. Both factors are mentioned in it as directives to the commission.

Vishinsky replied the proposed change would not imply in any way that the United States had given up support of the previous resolution.

NEW RELATIONSHIPS

He called attention to "new relationships which are arising before our eyes." Apparently this was a reference to Kremlin peace overtures. He added: "Events do not always take the shape tomorrow that they took yesterday."

In a brief speech Vishinsky claimed that "in an efort to reach agreement the Soviet delegation deems it possible not to press for adoption of its own resolution."

The draft, which the assembly's political committee defeated, called for immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb and a one-third across the board arms cut by all the big powers.

UN sources said a search of the records showed that this is the first time in the UN's seven-year-long debate on disarmament that Russia has failed to revive a defeated proposal in the assembly. It is also the first time that a Soviet spokesman has discussed disarmament without coupling it with a violent attack on the United States.

DISCORDANT NOTE ENTERS P.W. DEAL

UN Protests 'Incredibly Small' Number To Be Exchanged by Reds

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists said today they are ready to send home 600 disabled prisoners of war—a figure that includes only 150 Americans and other United Nations soldiers.

The chief allied negotiator, Rear-Admiral John Daniel, told the Communists their figure was "incredibly small," and asked "that you have these figures reviewed."

He said later, however, that "I have no reason to believe at the present time that they are not acting in good faith."

The Allied protest on the Communist offer was the stiffest statement yet made in the three-day conference. It was the first note of discord in the otherwise smooth negotiations which Tuesday resulted in agreement in principle to exchange disabled POWs.

The UN command offered to return 5,800 sick and wounded Communists—5,100 North Koreans and 700 Chinese. This is seven per cent of the 83,000 pro-Communist prisoners and four per cent of all prisoners held by the Allies. The Communist figure of 600 is five percent of the 12,000 to 13,000 UN and Korean prisoners the Reds say they hold.

ONE CANADIAN

The only Canadian listed in the United States armed forces list of prisoners obtained from the Communists is Gnr. John Jenkins, Royal Canadian Artillery of Hamilton Ont.

Both sides named lower-level staff officers to work out administrative details of the exchange. The staff officers went into session immediately after the liaison groups adjourned for the day.

Daniel asked the Communists for a complete revised text of the draft agreement on transfer of sick and wounded, so the UN command could consider any changes "in one package and arrive speedily to the items which are controversial." The Communists have agreed to the main points of Daniel's plan, and said they will submit their versions of the rest.

U.S. Moscow Envoy To Call on Churchill

LONDON (BUP).—Charles E. Bohlen, new U.S. ambassador to Moscow, will make a surprise visit to London today to sound out British opinion of the Soviet peace campaign.

Bohlen will fly from Paris this afternoon and return to the French capital within 48 hours to continue his journey to Moscow with a stopover in Bonn, Germany.

His unexpected one-day visit came as Prime Minister Winston Churchill took over the ailing Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's affairs. Eden goes to a hospital today for a major operation.

Socreds Will Win 40 Seats, Bennett Says

Premier Hints BCHIS To Be Enlarged Soon

KELOWNA (BUP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett predicted Tuesday night that the Social Credit Party would capture 40 of the 48 seats in the June 9 provincial general election, and hinted the Social Credit planned to enlarge the B.C. Hospital Insurance Scheme shortly.

The Social Credit leader addressed an overflow meeting at Kelowna Tuesday night, defending the government's pay-as-you-go program, criticizing opposition parties for voting against the Rolston Formula and blaming the Liberals, CCF and Conservatives for blocking the Social Credit attempt to bring down progressive legislation.

He asked that the voters "give us a clear majority in the next election and we will show you what ye can do."

UNDER WAY MAY 4

Bennett, who left for a week's vacation before returning to Victoria, said he planned to lead an active campaign. He said the Social Credit drive would get under way May 4 with all cabinet ministers visiting every constituency.

The premier hinted that the Social Credit government plans to enlarge the hospital insurance scheme within the near future. He said the new plan would benefit both premium payers and hospitals, but he declined to elaborate. He indicated, however, that an official announcement may be made in Victoria at a later date.

Coronation Seats Assured For Canadians

OTTAWA (CP).—All Canadians who have requested seats for the Coronation will get them and there are still some seats for late applicants, it was learned today.

But the physical task of preparing and mailing the reservations is taxing the force of about 25 workers, and applicants must be patient, said a Coronation committee spokesman.

To date there have been applications for slightly more than 8,000 seats. Reservation tickets are being printed in the United Kingdom and are not expected to reach the committee until about May 1.

To accommodate those who may be leaving for abroad before that date, the committee is mailing vouchers bearing the seat numbers and locations, which may be exchanged for the tickets in London.

Allocations were made on a first-come first-served basis and all the covered seats were taken up at the end of last December.

RCMP CONSTABLE STOPS NEAR-PANIC IN THEATRE

Special to The Times

COURTENAY.—An off-duty RCMP constable, George Grey, averted a possible panic of some 300 persons when fire broke out in the projection room of the Bickle Theatre here Tuesday night.

The fire started when the film broke, jamming the projector.

The sound had stopped and smoke and flames appeared on the projection screen. Flames were coming from the projection window; then someone yelled "fire."

There was a wild dash of people heading for the two front doors. They were jamming the exits when Constable Grey, a patron, yelled "Sit down and you won't get hurt."

The panic died down and everyone walked out in an orderly way.

MAU MAU LEADERS GET SEVEN YEARS

Jomo Kenyatta, Five Lieutenants Found Guilty of Kenya Terrorism

KAPENGURIA, Kenya (Reuters)—Jomo Kenyatta and his five lieutenants were found guilty today of managing the Mau Mau terrorist cult and were sentenced to seven years in jail.

The terror-ridden colony had waited tensely for the outcome of the trial of Kenyatta, eloquent and picturesque London-educated leader of the Kenya African Union.

Judge Ransley Thacker sentenced each of the accused to the maximum term — seven years with hard labor for managing and assisting in the management of Mau Mau, three years with hard labor for being a member of the proscribed cult, all sentences to run concurrently.

The judge noted Kenyatta took part in a Mau Mau oath ceremony in 1950, that he had administered a Mau Mau oath on another occasion, and on a third occasion he held an oath ceremony in his home.

The Mau Mau oath, a black-magic ritual, is used to induct new members into the sect and pledge them to secrecy in attacks against whites and Africans who co-operate with whites.

Meanwhile security forces killed 21 Mau Mau terrorists in clashes Tuesday, it was officially announced today in Nairobi.

PRIEST IS WARNED

The dead included six of a band of 100, who attacked a mission in the Aberdare foothills, bent on executing a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. P. J. McGill. Warned by friendly Kikuyu tribesmen, Father McGill made an eight-mile trip through Mau Mau territory to a police post. A patrol was sent out and intercepted the raiders, killing six of them.

In the forest in the Kiambu area, British soldiers killed three terrorists and another military patrol shot two near the uplands.

A third military patrol surprised a gang emerging from a forest in the Kiambu area and killed five of them.

The last contingent of soldiers flown to Kenya from Britain arrived at Nairobi today, bringing the total to 1,500 in eight days. By Thursday, all troops will have reached their posts.

5 Rubber Firms Plead Guilty of Combine

TORONTO (CP)—Five rubber companies accused of operating a combine in the restraint of trade pleaded guilty today before Mr. Justice W. R. Treleaven of the Ontario Supreme Court.

"There is nothing left for me to do but impose sentence," said his lordship.

However, Thomas Phelan, Crown prosecutor, asked permission to review the cases before sentence was imposed. He asked the maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine for each company.

The companies are the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada, Dominion Rubber Company, Dunlop Tire, Gutta Percha Rubber Company Ltd., and B. F. Goodrich

Mr. Phelan said evidence would prove the companies fixed prices to the detriment of the public. He said they also concealed the price-fixing and conspired to control materials and the offering of tenders.

Today's case concerned only what is technically described as "mechanical rubber goods," including hose, belting and miscellaneous rubber products.

Wakeful Boy Foils Plot to Kidnap Banker

PORT MOODY, B.C. (CP)—A bandit plot to kidnap bank manager Bob Wood, his wife and three children failed here today.

Four masked men attempted to break into the Woods' home at 5 a.m., but the noise of a ladder scraping at a bedroom window awakened 11-year-old son, Denny.

Wood is manager of a branch here of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Police said the men, knowing the bank vault was regulated by a time clock, apparently intended to kidnap the Wood family and hold them captive until Wood could open the vault.

"What do you think you are doing down there?" Wood shouted. The men fled in two cars, beating their way through police road blocks.

WIRE BRIEFS

Scientist to Wed

LONDON (AP)—Sir Alexander Fleming, 71-year-old discoverer of penicillin, took out a license today to marry Mrs. Amalia Courtsouris, a 40-year-old divorcee. The scientist's first wife died four years ago. She had one son.

LAING SAID READY FOR LEADERSHIP

Johnson Resigns Liberal Command

By GORDON FORBES

VANCOUVER—The name of Arthur Laing, MP for Vancouver South, will go before the Liberal convention in Vancouver today for the provincial leadership of the party.

The announcement came from informed Liberal quarters during the noon recess of the delegates, following the resignation as party chief of former premier Byron I. Johnson. The convention accepted the resignation.

ACCLAMATION?

It is understood here Mr. Laing has accepted the nomination for leadership. And there is a strong possibility it will be by acclamation.

A last-ditch effort to draft Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to accept leadership of the Liberal party shaped up earlier.

Highly placed Liberals said a "draft Sloan" cry may still come at this afternoon's session regardless of the fact the chief justice has given no official indication he will be willing to resign from the bench to lead the Liberals in their uphill fight to regain power.

Chief Justice Sloan is in Vancouver today, but naturally hasn't been at the convention.

SLOAN OBDURATE

Meanwhile, it is understood top Liberals have met Chief Justice Sloan several times in the last 24 hours in an effort to persuade him to accept the leadership.

Early today, many Liberals were optimistic that the chief justice may agree. However, that optimism waned later in the morning. Lunch-hour talks are expected to clarify the situation.

There is a chance former premier Byron Johnson may be asked to carry on, and the name of Sidney Smith, former MLA for Kamloops, has also been mentioned as a possible leader.

CIO-AFL Unity Talks Off to Good Start

BY ALAN ADAMS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Surprised officials of the AFL and CIO agreed today there is a "fighting chance" that current negotiations will lead to merger of the two big labor organizations.

The union chiefs buckled down to the task of trying to build a single 12,000,000-member "House of Labor" with a new optimism. It grew out of a "surprisingly successful" opening unity conference Tuesday.

Top-level committees, led by presidents Walter P. Reuther of the CIO and George Meany of the AFL, held a three-hour session and came up with a long-range working plan that could lead to merger.

As the first step, a six-man sub-committee headed by Meany and Reuther was appointed to draw up recommendations to halt "raiding" between rival AFL and CIO unions in the same field. Bitter clashes in such industries as textiles and electrical manufacturing have been frequent as one union sought to oust the other as bargaining agent for the workers.

Party Drafts Appeal For June Election

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter

VANCOUVER.—A reduction in car licenses to $10, abolition of the 3 per cent sales tax on meals, removal of co-insurance and re-establishment of the Labor Relations Board on a full-time basis were promised today by the B.C. Liberal Party meeting in convention in Vancouver.

MRS. NANCY HODGES . . . steers platform.

With over 600 enthusiastic delegates, a turn-out which has tremendously cheered party chieftains, the convention is framing a platform on which to go to the voters in the June 9 election.

In promising reduced car license fees the Liberals are out-doing the Social Credit government which has pledged only a 10 per cent cut.

Similarly, the pledge to remove sales tax on meals also goes farther than the Socreds. They have proposed to increase the exemption from 50 cents to $1.

The Liberals also promise to remove sales tax on all purchases of 30 cents and under. The present limit is 15 cents.

Here is a summary of the proposed Liberal platform. There will be certain amendments as the convention debates the various planks.

If the Liberals are elected in June, the platform will be the basis for government policy.

21-Point Program Outlined

Here are the points:

1. Reduced taxation.

2. A specific annual appropriation for construction and improvement of secondary roads.

3. Complete the PGE Railway from Prince George into the Peace River district and ensure a most adequate connection with Vancouver as soon as possible.

EDUCATION

4. Consolidation of all teacher-training facilities under a college of education under the supervision and control of the education department.

5. Seek additional federal grants for UBC and for vocational education.

6. Bring additional relief to municipalities and rural areas by the province assuming 80 per cent of the cost of education (now under debate by delegates).

7. Establish a faculty of dentistry at UBC.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

8. Removal of co-insurance.

9. Payment by the government from consolidated revenue of premiums for citizens of low incomes.

LABOR

10. The Labor Relations Board, which was placed on a part-time basis by the Socreds, to be reconstituted as a full-time board.

11. Amend the Workmen's Compensation Act as recommended by Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan.

12. Revise the ICA Act at the next session.

LIQUOR

13. Redraft the Liquor Act in accordance with the result of the 1952 plebiscite to allow sale of liquor by the glass on a local option basis.

FORESTRY

14. Appoint a Royal Commission at the next session to make a further survey of forest resources and industry — particular study to be given to the position of the small operator. In the interval, the operators to have the option of using either the B.C. log scale or the cubic content scale.

15. Garibaldi Park to be turned over to the federal government for development as a national park.

CIVIL SERVICE

16. Arbitration rights for civil servants.

17. Equal pay for equal work, regardless of sex.

18. Amend Civil Service Act and Superannuation Act to permit employment of persons over 45.

AGRICULTURE

19. Remove existing inequities in education costs on farm and ranch lands.

20. Establish a vocational agricultural school and a veterinary college.

EMPLOYER-EMPLOYEE RELATIONS

21. Establishment of research facilities to investigate all phases of employee participation in industry with a view to encouraging employee-employer partnership.

Chairman of the platform committee was Mrs. Nancy Hodges, one of Victoria's MLA's since 1941.

The convention accepted the resignation of former Premier Byron Johnson, who has led the party since 1947.

The former premier reviewed his old government's record and said in the five years he headed the Liberals "I have no regrets." He mentioned his resignation as leader was dated July 23 last year.

He told delegates if they come out of today's convention strong and united, "nothing can prevent the election of a Liberal government June 9."

"It rests with ourselves today," Mr. Johnson said. "There is a great opportunity for the Liberal party to come back."

The convention accorded Mr. Johnson a prolonged ovation, and there were cheers from several sections of the convention hall.

STOCKS GETTING VERSE?

London Paper Consoles Brokers

LONDON (AP)—The News Chronicle squeezed out a few rhymed crocodile tears today for market speculators who are feeling the pinch of possible peace.

In an editorial dedicated to London's City brokerage district and New York's Wall Street, the Liberal newspaper versified as follows:

"Many a tear will be shed today and many a heart will bleed for the men in the City and Wall Street in the hour of their agonized need.

"The news is all over the world today, from Saskatchewan to Greece. The peril is past denying; it seems that we might have peace.

"There's many a share to unload today; for who will want aircraft or tin if the governments start disarming, and stockpiling starts being sin?

"Somewhere in Aunt Agatha's attic today there should be a lamp-shade about. It's one like a ship made of old Russian scrip, and it may be the only way out."

British investors own about £50,000,000 worth of Czarist Russian bonds. Many are beautifully printed on costly parchment, and the owners—hardly expecting to get any money from the bonds—have turned them into lamp shades.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Malcolm Cowley, who writes about books and is always worth reading, has classified the modern serious novel in six types.

He draws a distinction between the present output and that of the Jack London school in the early 1900's, as well as the writing of the depression years and pre-Second World War era.

Apart from mystery stories and popular romances, he suggests "serious" novels can be broken down into half a dozen categories.

One deals with the character whose life has been blighted by a possessive mother. Another takes the adventure story and develops it into a fantastic effort to create symbols for the moral chaos of the age. A third concerns itself with the satirical and slightly surrealistic story of the rich young man surrounded by Bohemians

Stott

In the fourth group he puts the novel of the puritans abroad, who either perish under the greater vitality of more natural peoples or find their own passionate naturalness. The fifth classification he devotes to the stories of childhood resentful against the hypocrisy of elders. And in the sixth he includes stories of obsessive pursuits of some animal that becomes almost supernatural.

Recognizable Stereotypes

Mr. Cowley admits a variety of other developments in fiction, but lists his six groups as generally recognizable stereotypes.

He doesn't labor the literary efforts built around abnormalities, although he does mention alcoholism and suggests some instances of mental or psychic derangement.

If you hit the circulating libraries enough, you'll find the types he discusses, and you'll find them a bit cloying.

You may even agree with Cowley that novelists might look for new stereotypes, which is a bit of a contradiction in terms, or at least try to give more breadth and depth to the old ones.

And maybe you'll come to the conclusion that a novel could appear new and different, almost a radical departure from the accepted, if it dealt with normal people endowed with ordinary, healthy appetities and untroubled by all the kinks and twists which so many writers put into characters these days.

Just possibly, in our presumed enlightenment, we readers have been insisting on too heavy a diet of depressing themes. Our curiosity, whetted by a smattering of psychologists' phrases, has developed a morbid interest in mental and moral dissection in search of impulses that aren't present in the specimen we examine.

Put it this way: Just because a man whacks a fish over the head when he catches one, that action needn't stem back to some prenatal occurrence experienced by his mother when the eventual fisherman was still in the gill-stage. The guy may just be whacking the fish because it has to be whacked, and there may be no conscious or subconscious brutality in the action at all.

Without Neuroses

Some people grow up completely unaware of the fact that they have neurosis until an erudite busy-body persuades them they have.

Perhaps a few more writers might take that healthy outlook on healthy individuals. Perhaps such novelists could develop grand stories about flesh and blood characters who find life an adventure in itself, without any quotation marks around adventure.

Sure, say the sophisticates, but what would you have? Just a bunch of corn. Not necessarily—and what's so uncorny about a lot of the stuff that sets out to shock, create morbid reactions and gradually kick the stuff of humanity out into the weed patch?

Sixth Socred Signifies Desire for Nomination

A sixth possible nominee has come forward as a probable starter at the Victoria Social Credit convention next Monday.

Archie M. Browne, 411 Cook Street, president of Social Credit group No. 71, which has a membership of 230 and is the largest in the city, has signified his intention to seek nomination for one of the three candidatures here.

Mr. Browne has been a Social Crediter for 18 years. He joined the movement in Saskatchewan. He has lived in B.C. 13 years and is director of a furniture company.

Others who have been mooted for nomination are Mayor Claude Harrison, who as yet has not joined the party; Ald. Waldo Skillings, Ald. J. Donald Smith, W. Percy Wright, W. N. Chant and Mrs. Lydia Arsens.

In Saanich there are six persons seeking the lone party nomination, and there is a suggestion that there will be more hats in the ring before the nominating convention there.

Archie Byerstein, unsuccessful Socred candidate last year, has announced he will definitely not seek nomination but will throw his weight beyond a party member who as yet has not been mentioned as a contestant.

City Golfer, McColl Heads Gyro Clubmen

William McColl, well-known Victoria golfer, was elected by acclamation Tuesday night as president of the Camosun Gyro Club.

The club's annual meeting was held at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, and installation of new officers will take place April 24 at a combined dinner, ceremony and dance at Chez Marcel.

Others elected were Gerald Bryson, vice-president; John H. L. Gillis, secretary, and James McRae, treasurer. Jack Hawkes and Dr. Vincent Smith were returned to the board of directors, and new members elected were Leslie Osborne and Wallace Dickieson.

Retiring president Laurie Wallace told the meeting the installation will be attended by representatives from most of the 20 Gyro clubs in the Pacific Northwest.

BLAST-FREED GAS OVERWHELMS TWO

Man, Woman Stricken in Saanich When Dynamite Fractures Pipe

Blasting by road construction crews on Douglas Street near Boleskine Road Tuesday afternoon resulted in two persons being accidentally gassed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Moir, 254 Simcoe, and Thomas Cannon, 3401 Douglas, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Saanich police to be treated when an explosion fractured a pipe under the Canon home and caused gas to seep into the house.

Lieut. Hector McNeill and Fireman Robert Slater of the Saanich Fire Department revived Mrs. Moir and Mr. Cannon with a resuscitator and they were taken to hospital by Constables Robin Stewart and Robert Coleman.

After treatment at the hospital Mrs. Moir and Mr. Cannon were returned to their homes.

Mrs. Moir was visiting the Cannons when the gassing accident occurred.

Road construction crews are in the process of widening Douglas Street in that sector to provide an outlet from the city for traffic that will use the new proposed Island Highway and the Pat Bay Highway.

Painful Cramps of "Monthly Periods" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in test by doctors!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Modern in action!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's Compound is thoroughly modern in action. It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual pain!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets (with added iron). Both are grand, too, for those "hot flashes" and nervous feelings of "change of life"!

Don't suffer needlessly . . . when relief may be so near!

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

Slim Chance Freight-Rate Appeal Will Succeed

OTTAWA (CP) — An appeal by eight provincial governments against Canada's latest freight rate increase is expected to be heard by the cabinet during the first week of May.

The governments are asking cabinet to rescind the 7 per cent boost that went into effect on March 16, pending new studies by the board of transport commissioners aimed at reducing or wiping out the increase.

Among observers here, the odds against outright success in getting the rate increase rescinded appear slim.

In the 49-year history of the board, cabinet has never allowed an appeal in a general revenue case such as the present one. It has, however, referred a few back to the board for reconsideration.

The $38,500,000 a year increase was authorized by the board March 9. The provinces asked cabinet to disallow it under its Railway Act powers pending an appeal, but the cabinet declined to do this.

Instead, federal ministers will hear a full-dress appeal while leaving the higher rates in effect until they reach a decision. The early May date was understood to have been set to allow for completion of western board hearings on rate equalization, due to end late this month.

Many provincial governments freight rate specialists are engaged in these hearings, aimed at levelling rate inequalities.

Christie Remanded

Crowds pushed into a small London court today to get a glimpse of John Christie, charged with the murder of his wife after her body and the bones of five other women were found hidden in and about the cheap tenement where he lived. Christie was remanded for a week. He is being defended by one of Britain's leading criminal lawyers, Derek Curtis-Bennett. He helped defend Klaus Fuchs, the notorious atom spy, and William Joyce, the traitor whom Britons nicknamed "Lord Haw Haw" when he broadcast propaganda for Hitler during the war.

Victoria Nurse Wins Festival Drama Award

Rosalie Cheeseman, Mrs. Patricia Smith Share Best Actress Honors at Nanaimo

Special to The Times

NANAIMO—Rosalie Cheeseman of Victoria's Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing Players and Mrs. Patricia Smith, Parksville, were each presented with "best actress" awards Tuesday night after performances in the Vancouver Island Regional Drama Festival.

Ian Dobbie, adjudicator, of Vancouver, found the quality of acting so high during Tuesday's performances that the two awards were made instead of the usual one.

Other awards on Tuesday went to the Lake Cowichan Theatre Guild for the best directed play, "The Twelve-Pound Look," directed by Mary Dyson, and to Don Wilson of the Yellow Point Dramatic Group, as best actor.

WEEK OF PLAYS

The festival, at the new Nanaimo High School, will continue every night this week. An honor performance will be given Saturday.

Mr. Dobbie praised the capable handling of the Lake Cowichan group's comedy, and found "When the Wind Blows," by the Jubilee Nursing School players, to have "everything in it."

"It was extremely difficult and complex," he said. "Great credit is due to this group for handling such a difficult play."

TWO HONORS

St. Andrew's Cathedral Drama Group of Victoria received two honors Monday night, when L. W. Westendale was named best director for his work on "Dukes and Fairies," and Sally Rogers was acclaimed as best actress.

The adjudicator found the all-woman cast in Victoria's Studio "C" presentation, "Be Sure Your Sex Will Find You Out," failed to reach the satiric level of fervor required. He said the Lantzville Players' "Old Salt" was "not too strong", but that the performance would have done credit to a much larger centre.

Other Victoria groups that will compete between now and Saturday are St. Luke's Players, "Case of the Crushed Petunias" and "Saturday at MacFarlane's"; Victoria Theatre Guild, "Rise and Shine", and Columbine Players, "My Horn, Book, and My Top".

BCTF Plans Ex-Teacher Community

VANCOUVER (CP). — The British Columbia Teachers' Federation has bought 3¾ acres in suburban Burnaby on which it wants to build a low-rent housing unit for retired teachers.

An executive recommendation for financing hostel and cottage-type dwellings out of the teachers' pension fund will be placed before the final session of the 37th annual general convention Thursday at Vancouver.

Federation president R. R. Smith said lifetime contacts, broken on departure from classrooms, could be maintained in the teacher community.

If the recommendation is accepted by the general body construction would start as soon as plans are drawn up. It is hoped that rents for the more than 60 units in the first step of the project would be as low as $25, Secretary Charles Ovans said.

Ignores 59 Traffic Tickets, Fined $3,000

NEW YORK (BUP)—The estranged wife of a New York policeman was fined $3,000 Tuesday for ignoring 59 traffic summonses. It is the largest fine ever imposed against an individual traffic law violator in New York.

Mrs. Lee Maggio, a skirt manufacturer, pleaded guilty and was ordered to pay by April 24 or spend 118 days in jail—$50 or two days for each summons.

Police Slug Drops Fleeing Bank Bandit

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bandit, coralled in the bank he was robbing, was dropped by a policeman's bullet here Tuesday as he attempted to run a gauntlet of the law.

Carrying a gun in one hand and a shopping bag holding $6,400 in loot in the other, he dashed out the front doorway to be faced by constable Larry Short.

"I had a gun against him and he had a gun against me," Short said. "I shot first."

An alarmed turned in by a sharp-eyed doctor's receptionist brought police to the scene but Short's shot was the only one needed.

The slug caught the bandit in the thigh, knocking him to the pavement. He was handcuffed and taken to hospital, where his condition was described as satisfactory.

Later a charge of robbery with violence was laid against the man, identified by police as 26-year-old Patrick Bell.

A man police suspect of being an accomplice, who sat calmly in a coffee shop three doors away at the time of the shooting, was expected to be charged later today.

He was arrested half an hour after the robbery, without gunfire or a struggle, in an automobile police said the wounded bandit apparently planned to use for his getaway.

SUSPICIOUS

The bandit entered the suburban Renfrew Avenue branch of the Royal Bank of Canada just before closing time. The only other persons in the bank were employees, manager Ben McInnes and one customer, Dr. D. H. Stanwood.

During the holdup R. Stanwood's receptionist, Mrs. R. A. Winterbottom, noticed from her office across the street suspicious movements in the bank.

She made a telephone call to the bank, and the manager, warned by the bandit, was able to answer only "I don't know" to her question of whether there was any trouble.

Mrs. Winterbottom wasn't fooled. "That's fine," she told the manager, "I know there is. Just hold tight, I'm phoning the police."

Minutes later, the bandit shouted: "Who turned in the alarm?" When nobody answered he dashed through the front doorway.

"The next thing we heard was the shot," said Mr. McInnes.

NAMED "MISS B.C. FOREST PRODUCTS" Tuesday, Marjorie Tebbutt, 18, 2744 Forbes Street, came here from Duncan less than a year ago. She will compete for the "Miss B.C. Products Fair" title during fair week, May 4-9. Winner will go to "Miss PNE" contest in Vancouver.

Adenauer Wants U.S. Support in Handling Refugees

WASHINGTON (UP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer hoped today to enlist U.S. support in handling a steady stream of refugees from behind the Iron Curtain.

Informed sources said the refugee problem would be discussed at Adenauer's second meeting with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today. The German chief of state also was expected to discuss it in a speech before the National Press Club.

Some 9,000 refugees have poured into the western zone of Germany since the end of the Second World War and they are continuing to flow into West Germany at the rate of 2,000 daily. Adenauer is seeking some method of lightening West Germany's burden of caring for them.

'FAREWELL, LOVE OF MY LIFE'

Carol's Wife Cuts Lock Of Ex-King's Hair, Weeps

ESTORIL, Portugal (Reuters)—Weeping softly, Princess Helena sphinkled a handful of Roumanian soil over the coffin of her dead husband, former King Carol of Romania, at his funeral Tuesday.

Earlier the princess, formerly Magda Lupescu, lovingly cut a lock of hair from the head of the man with whom she consorted for 28 years before being married.

The exiled Carol died of a heart attack three days ago at 59. He had brought the handful of earth from his native land when forced to leave for the last time by the Nazis in 1940.

A member of the former ruler's household said Princess Helena covered the body with flowers and, passing her hands over his face, said: "Your hands are still so beautiful." Finally she kissed his hands and exclaimed amid sobs, "adieu, amour de ma vie" (farewell, love of my life).

Big 3 Ponder Russian Plans For Air Safety

Talks Will Begin Again in U.S. Sector

BERLIN (UP)—Spokesmen for Russia and the big three Western Allies talked into the early morning hours today on preventing future airplane incidents in Germany's international air corridors.

A communique issued after the recess of the first full-scale power talks in Germany since July, 1952, said Russia had offered a series of proposals on air safety.

The conference, held at Soviet headquarters in the East Berlin district of Karlshorst, lasted seven and one-half hours. A U.S. spokesman said the talks would be resumed later in the American sector. No date was set.

Gen. Vassily I. Chuikov, Soviet commander in East Germany, called the conference after Britain had objected angrily to the shooting down of a British bomber in one of the corridors by Russian jets last month at a cost of seven lives

Air Vice-Marshal Hugh Campbell, 5 Others, Injured in Air Crash

ZWEIBRUECKEN (CP)—Six RCAF officers, including Air Vice-Marshal Hugh Campbell of Salisbury, N.B., were injured Tuesday when their twin-engine plane crashed near this big NATO air base, in Germany, during an emergency landing.

A United States air force spokesman said the plane radioed it had developed engine trouble shortly after taking off from Zweibruecken, Rhineland city near the Saar border less than 20 miles east of the Saar capital of Saarbruecken.

Eyewitnesses first spotted the plane in trouble at 600 feet. They said the plane's engines cut off before crashing.

Campbell, 44, a veteran of 22 years in the RCAF, is air officer commanding the RCAF No. 1 air division, Canada's main contribution to the defense of Western Europe under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He was returning to his NATO headquarters near Paris after visiting the RCAF No. 3 fighter wing stationed here.

SPINE INJURIES

German doctors said Campbell suffered injuries to his spine and head. His right leg was fractured in several places.

The others injured were:

Campbell's chief of staff, Air Commodore K. L. B. Hobson, 37, of London, Ont., spine injury.

Group Capt. R. M. Cox, 37, of Sioux Lookout, Ont., spine injury.

Wing Cmdr. R. A. Ashman, 37, of Ottawa, skull injury.

Flt. Lieut. W. Unruh of Lucky Lake, Sask., not seriously injured.

The pilot was not immediately identified. He was severely injured but details were not known.

While here, the party had witnessed the arrival of three squadrons of Canadian-built Sabre jets from St. Hubert, Que.

The planes left Canada March 8 and flew via Labrador, Greenland, Iceland and Scotland. The flight, called "Operation Leapfrog Three," was held up by weather.

Mr. Kenney Steps Down

PUBLIC LIFE IN BRITISH COlumbia is losing a stalwart fighter and able administrator through the retirement of E. T. Kenney from the field of active politics.

The representative from Skeena, Liberal House leader in the last legislature and former minister of lands and forests, pursued tenaciously the policies he considered in the interest of his province—policies which are reflected in no small measure by the developments in which he assisted.

There have been occasions when this newspaper differed with Mr. Kenney on details. Among those differences were the questions of Buttle Lake and the clearing of the lakeland in Tweedsmuir Park. At the same time, his position was respected. As a cabinet officer and the one most closely associated with power projects involved, he gave top priority to hydro development.

But while this newspaper has been outspoken in its criticism on those points, it recognizes, as most British Columbians must, the importance of the vast industrial projects drawn to British Columbia by Mr. Kenney and his colleagues.

It recognizes too, his whole-hearted interest in efforts to keep forest industries' production high and, at the same time, preserve the resource on which those industries live.

He leaves the scene with a record of accomplishment during 20 vital years in British Columbia's surging drive forward—a man whose abilities and whose strong fibre will be seriously missed in the days ahead.

Technique in Cuba

CUBAN AUTHORITIES, REports the Associated Press, are holding 44 youths and a high school professor involved in an abortive Easter Sunday attempt to seize Camp Columbia, the biggest military base in Cuba.

The incident creates interest for readers of the magazine United Nations World, whose April edition devotes a five-page article to the techniques and personality of the republic's General Fulgencio Batista, president and dictator.

Batista, the article says, is a master of coup d'etat. Orphaned son of illiterate peasant parents, he has risen through a tough school of military training to a position which leaves the students, a body reflecting the broad democratic desires of the people, with little hope of outguessing or outmanoeuvring him in the art of forcible seizure of government.

Batista came to power through the "Sergeants' Revolution" of September, 1933. A sergeant himself, he had organized non-commissioned officers of the army along with a small intellectual group. On the appointed night, he walked into army headquarters at Camp Columbia and announced he had taken over.

After serving a term as president—a term lucrative to himself—he retired. In June, 1952, he decided to become president and dictator again, organized lieutenants and captains, and effected another coup.

Six weeks ago, with his term entering its last quarter, he announced the elections scheduled for November would be postponed until June, 1954.

"Many thoughtful Cubans," says United Nations World, "heartsick at this latest insult to their democratic pride, are not reconciled to one man—not even Batista — becoming the most essential fact of their national life. In Cuba, personal liberty is held high, almost venerated. . . ."

Apparently the students and professor arrested after the Easter Sunday effort attempted to demonstrate that fact. But they were dealing with a master of the coup technique—a master who had placed on all barracks bronze plaques stating, "Revolution is the right of every soldier!" The right, presumably, does not extend to Cuban civilians.

Fighting Communism Here

THE CANADIAN CITIZENSHIP Council has drawn attention to reports from Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver noting instances in which certain ethnic groups have been teaching communism to school-age children. The council cites the incidents not with any idea of starting a McCarthy "witch-hunt," but to suggest a better way of combatting such influences on the minds of young Canadians.

That better way lies in the approach of the Canadian Citizenship Council which devotes its efforts to assisting new Canadians to take their rightful place in this country's life.

In other words the council subscribes to the excellent theory that the way to make communism unpalatable is to prove to its potential recruits that Canadian democracy has something better to offer them. In such a campaign every Canadian has a stake. It lies within his ability to impress the newcomer with the opportunities the country offers those willing to work.

Nor should the Canadian see himself solely in an altruistic light when he regards the immigrants who come to our shores. Since 1945, those immigrants have brought to this country $300,000,000 in capital and have formed a laboring force of 300,000 workers. With them have come new techniques and special skills.

In some cases those skills are being neglected because their possessors are not placed in positions to exploit them fully. Overcoming the waste of talent is also the responsibility of Canadians.

As the immigrant is helped to assume his proper place in the Canadian scheme of things he becomes a better citizen. He is more quickly assimilated and his experience becomes a powerful antidote to those who seek to poison young minds against the country and to prejudice its institutions in the eyes of other newcomers.

National Wild Life Week

THIS IS NATIONAL WILD LIFE Week. The observance was inaugurated in 1947 by the Canadian parliament and ordained each year to include April 10 — the birthday of the famed Jack Miner.

As a memorial to the great Canadian naturalist and protector of bird life the annual "stop-and-think" period is a worthy one. As a means of impressing upon the public mind the need for conservation of our wild life it should be equally effective.

One needs only to imagine for a moment what our world would be like without the beauty and interest of birds and animals to gain a picture of desolation. Throughout the woods and fields, in the deep forests, and in the orchards and gardens of the residential areas no bird's song would be heard, no animal, large or small, be seen and admired.

It is true that birds and animals may on occasion be pests. The predator that takes its toll of chicken flocks, the birds that descend on cherry trees or vegetable gardens can levy their toll on man's wealth and labor. But the alternative would be much worse. A world of crawling insects would be the accompaniment of a birdless planet.

There is not much the average citizen can do, or need do, for the preservation of our wild life. But he can keep a sympathetic mind on the subject of conservation. He can see to it that parks and breeding grounds are preserved in a sufficient quantity to ensure the survival of the wild life that depends on them. He can be careful of fire in the woods. He can see that game laws are adequate and enforced. He can get out and make friends where possible with the furred and feathered folk with which he shares the globe. He can help save them and he can learn much from them. National Wild Life Week is well worthy of a little attention from all of us.

Vigil Under the Clock

ONCE AGAIN JOHN SUTHERland has kept his Easter vigil under the clock in King's Cross Station. Once again the 70-year-old Vancouver father has failed to see the face of the son he is convinced he saw passing in the crowd at that spot on Easter Sunday, 1948.

But the disappointment has not shaken the faith of John Sutherland that his boy, Flt. Sgt. Wilfred Sutherland—reported missing, presumed dead, when his Stirling bomber was shot down over the Netherlands in 1943—is still living. The father is certain his son is suffering from loss of memory, that he lives and that some Easter Sunday he will again pass beneath the clock of King's Cross Station in London.

Here, surely, is something of the hope that burned in the breasts of the faithful nearly 2,000 years ago when, having gone to the place of death, they found life and won warm assurance of a truth more shining than the conventions of their days conceived.

So with John Sutherland, who will never give up. And as he makes his Easter pilgrimages, the hearts of Canadians go with him, hoping that a faith as strong as his will gain its final glowing reward.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

THERE is a Benedictine priory in Burnaby, between Vancouver and New Westminster. At least, there was. It is now an abbey, not a priory. Presumably because it is near New Westminster, it is called Westminster Abbey. The monks point out, correctly, that a certain big church on the banks of the Thames may be CALLED Westminster Abbey, but its real name in the Collegiate Church of St. Peter, Westminster. So their abbey in Burnaby is the only Westminster Abbey in the world.

Brock

Well . . . yes . . . maybe. But since (according to the press) their abbey is in Burnaby, not in New Westminster; and since the city of New Westminster would logically make a nearby abbey NEW Westminster Abbey; and since there is a very definite Benedictine connection with the old church in London . . . one could wish, in the best-tempered way in the world, that the good monks had chosen another name. It doesn't really matter, I suppose, except as a question of sentiment. And the Order of St. Benedict has a right to some sentiment, too, in the name of Westminster.

BECAUSE of its proximity to the Palace of Westminster, and because various kings took an enormous interest in it (financial as well as spiritual and architectural interest), the old Westminster Abbey was an especially royal church, and still is. But for 700 years it was mainly the abbey church of a great Benedictine monastery, and also a most important centre for pilgrimage. It was only 400 years ago that Henry VIII dissolved the monastery, and that is a very short time in Christian history, and not too long a time in the story of the old abbey church, which legend carries back to St. Peter himself. "Westminster" is a very moving word to the Order of St. Benedict.

STILL, I do not agree with the Vancouver papers which claim that Burnaby now possesses the "first Westminster Abbey" in the world. Even as a quibble, I mean. Anyone before 1540 could have told you about an abbey church at old Westminster, nor is it odd that Queen Elizabeth's new-fangled name of the Collegiate Church of St. Peter has (so far) failed to stick. All the same, I was pleased by one Vancouver paper, which by a misprint said something about the "former PRIORITY" in Burnaby, meaning priory. "Priority," since we are gently suggesting prior claims in nomenclature, is rather nice.

KIDS' STUFF

A FRIEND of mine phoned the book department of a Vancouver department store. As usual, the operator asked "Adult books or children's?" (To which one should usually reply, "It all depends, doesn't it?") Since my friend wanted a copy of that useful work, C. P. Lyons' "Flora of Southern B.C. and Vancouver Island," he said he'd like adult books. A salesman of adult reading answered the phone, and my friend said "Have you a copy of 'Flora of Southern B.C. and Vancouver Island?'" and the man said impatiently "That would be children's books, I will have them connect you."

I SUPPOSE he thought it sounded like juvenile fiction, Flora being a girl's name. Perhaps it was the story of how Flora Macdonald eloped with Bonnie Prince Charlie after all, and they reached B.C. ahead of the explorers, and lived at Nootka and places like that until they were discovered by Captain Vancouver, who promised not to tell. But it's a plaguey awkward title, all the same. Too long, and no romance. "Jerry and Jill of Cobble Hill" is the sort of thing that gets by, even though not much good. But just try calling a kids' book "Little Marie of That Portion of B.C. Lying West of the Summit of the Coast Range, and More Particularly the Federal Riding of Coast-Capilano," and you'll get simply nowhere with the young. They wouldn't touch it with a boat-hook.

WHIM-WHAMS

THE other day The Times (of London) had an excellent editorial cracking down on the modern practice of giving every land, air, or sea manoeuvre a code name, as if wartime secrecy had to prevail, and as if warriors had to behave more whimsically than a cross between Sir James Barrie and a drunken pixie. Even in wartime, when secrets mattered, Mr. Churchill protested against code names that were boastful, cynical, or playful, as applied to the certain death of many a good chap. He also objected to having to remember too many of these names . . . 31 at once!

SOME of the peacetime names are so wilfully cute, they are too much for my weak spirit to bear. I'm astonished there has been no Operation Titter or Operation Chortle or Operation Cuteness, Or Operation Smarty-Pants. The language at all times stands in need of several major operations. But I think Operation Operation stands high on the list, if low in our hopes.

Since this last paragraph of mine calls for Operation Operation, I suppose you could call the paragraph itself Operation Operation Operation. But I'd strongly advise you not to.

BLESSED ARE THE POOR

Many Canadians have lately become alarmed at the intellectual and cultural poverty of their country and this purchase for the National Gallery of Canada at Ottawa has no doubt been made partly in the light of that fact.

OUT OF THE PICTURE

The mission of the CCF is the achievement of democratic socialism. I contend that the two words—democratic and socialism—are inconsistent. For either the one or the other will, in time, be displaced. And inasmuch as the CCF are bureaucratic they will let the democratic word slip out of the picture.

Compulsion must come in, when the CCF Socialist policy contemplates the socialization of all financial agencies, transportation, communications and public utilities. Socialism makes the individual the slave of the state. Social Credit is for individual supremacy and that the people should create a state, to bring in what they, the people, desire.

PAYS TRIBUTE

Of all the benefits conferred on the ex-service man or woman, by the Canadian government, the greatest is undoubtedly the care and medical treatment a veteran receives at the several DVA hospitals throughout Canada.

The DVA Hospital in Victoria under the efficient administration of Mr. E. G. Drage and Dr. Watson, as the senior medical officer, stands out as a veterans' hospital second to none throughout the world. A patient in this hospital receives the very best care and medical treatment by good doctors, good nurses, and good orderlies, in addition to first-class food under the supervision of experienced dieticians. Entertainment of a wide variety is not forgotten, under the charge of the indefatigable and smiling supervisor, Mr. Maurice Maurant.

Patients are provided, too, with facilities for making scarves and a large variety of other useful articles, under the able management of Miss Herbin and Miss Farey in the Occupational Therapy department, and the arts and crafts, Red Cross department, under the capable management of Miss Gray.

Space does not allow me to expatiate on the other advantages accruing to the patients of the DVA Hospital in Victoria. The writer's advice to the public is to come and see for yourselves and be convinced that, in Victoria, we have a veterans' hospital of which her citizens can well be proud, and for which we old veterans are so deeply grateful.

"DIE-HARD."

DISAGREES

I am instructed by this Council to reply to a letter which appeared in your issue of March 31 over the signature of G. W. Cousens.

He speaks of labor councils in Victoria stating "they decided that a sum of money must be paid by members to finance the regular Monday radio broadcast on station CKDA." The Trades and Labor Council made no such decision, the subject has not even been discussed.

He goes on ". . . particularly when they compel union men to permit money to be taken from the council, to which they contribute, whether they approve or not." This council has not the power to compel union members to do anything. If your correspondent is a lifelong union member, he must know that politics are not discussed at our council meetings.

On the other hand, one of the primary functions of the council is to watch legislation and press for those things which are for the welfare of the people: education, health and other social benefits and, to oppose those things which militate against the interests of labor.

A. P. RAYMENT.

Secretary-treasurer, Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

CO-OPERATION

At the recent annual meeting of our association held in Vancouver, special recognition was made of the very splendid co-operation and support accorded to Scouting activities by the press of British Columbia and the Yukon throughout the past year.

The publicity support that you and your fellow editors have given to this movement is very much appreciated, I assure you. Without it the volunteer efforts of hundreds of citizens in the province and Yukon Territory on behalf of over 18,000 Cubs, Scouts and Rovers would be seriously retarded.

Again, our very sincere thanks and appreciation.

E. E. GREGG,
President, Provincial Council,
The Boy Scouts Association

CLOTHING COSTS

On page 6 of your newspaper dated March 31, was an item well calculated to mislead the public.

It states in part "The cost of keeping officers in uniform rose from $5,191 per man in 1949 to $6,094 in 1952. The average cost for other ranks rose from $2,578 to $3,645."

This is patently absurd as it stands. The cost of keeping an officer in clothing is $375, which is the initial grant given to officers on being commissioned. For the rest of his army career, an officer receives no kit allowance. For men, the most reasonable estimate of uniform allowance is $120 per year.

No doubt the expression "keeping a man in uniform" refers to the sum necessary to maintain a standing defense force divided by the number of men in that force.

However, your loose use of the headline, in caps, "BE EXPENSIVELY DRESSED—JOIN ARMED FORCES" is no credit to your journalistic policy and does an injustice to the men who are willing to wear that high-priced haberdashery.

Upheavals in The Kremlin?

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

THE possibility that Josef V. Stalin was somehow murdered by his heirs is no longer ruled out. Russian experts in the State Department and intelligent services were already amazed by the rapid reversal of the dead Stalin's policies. Then came the exoneration of the famous "murdering clique" of Kremlin doctors, who were arrested and accused just before Stalin fell ill.

Joseph

The Pravda announcement contained an unprecedented hint that evidence against the doctors had been extorted by torture. The whole event was astonishing. It has opened the field for every form of speculation, including the theory that Stalin was done away with by other leading members of the Soviet regime.

At this stage, of course, this theory is speculation, pure and simple. Yet this highly colored theory is being soberly discussed by key men in the government. That is the best measure of the prevalence of wild surmise about Soviet policies and purposes.

Surmise is so prevalent in turn because of the impression that has been made here by the upheaval in Moscow. By now, you only have to itemize changes of policy already made, in order to be convinced that the upheaval has not to be taken very seriously.

LONG DEADLOCK

In the foreign sphere, Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-lai has moved to break the interminable deadlock of the Korean truce negotiations. Soviet Foreign Minister Viacheslav Molotov has strongly seconded Chou En-lai. At the United Nations, Andrei Vishinski has sought to renew negotiations about disarmament and atomic energy control. Ways to avoid any further incidents on the air borders are now being discussed, by Soviet request, in Berlin.

In the domestic sphere, Stalin was not in his grave before the Soviet government was made over. The complex arrangements made in his lifetime, at the recent Congress of the Russian Communist party, composed of Premier Malenkov, Security Minister Beria, and War Minister Bulganin, with Molotov seemingly shorn of state power but directing foreign affairs.

The fact that Malenkov was hardly more than the equal of the other triumvirs was then publicly marked, when he handed over the party secretariat and the vital control of party patronage to Nikita S. Khrushchev.

PRISONERS' FREED

Meanwhile, an amnesty was announced that liberated hundreds of thousands of petty offenders from the jails and work camps. Prices of consumers' goods were sharply cut (incidently suggesting that there will be some slowdown of Soviet war preparation). Finally, there came the release of the doctors.

Until the last event, what had happened was certainly unexpected, yet not absolutely inconsistent with past loyalty to Stalin. In the announcement about the doctors, however, no one could fail to see a strong implied criticism of former ways of doing business. That is why the experts are now wondering whether Stalin's heirs did not take steps to free themselves from the dangerous domination of a "frightened, difficult, petulant old man," as George F. Kennan has described Stalin in his old age.

The Eisenhower administration might well break its rule now against consulting former Ambassador Kennan, since he seems to have been the only man who foresaw even a part of what is now going on. Before leaving Moscow, he told the State Department as well as Moscow foreign correspondents that an important group in the Kremlin wanted a change of policy.

OVER-EXTENDED

In his view the dissident group—Bulganin was named as a member—believed that the Soviet Union was dangerously over-extended in the Far East and losing ground in Europe. Therefore, in Kennan's phrase, they wished to "stop bucking the line and start throwing forward passes." That is a good definition of the change in Moscow to date.

There are other significant symptoms. The posthumous deification of Stalin has been strangely dropped by the Soviet press since the time of his funeral. (Kennan has also said he would not be surprised if Stalin ended as an "arch-traitor to the revolution."

Stewart

The transformation of Malenkov into a God on Earth, begun after his accession to power, has been abruptly stopped since the transfer of the party secretariat to Khrushchev. Orders are now issued in the name of the party Central Committee instead of by Malenkov personally.

There are other interesting lines of speculation, too. For instance, the doctors were accused of murdering Zhdanov, who was Malenko's bitter enemy. Suppose the accusation had been true. What then?

But how Stalin died and even what rivalries may be developing matter less than the obvious fact that Stalin's death is opening all sorts of new vistas. Maybe they will be very hopeful vistas, if we do not forget that forward passing can be even more dangerous than line-bucking.

Let's Wait

Toronto Globe and Mail

The new Communist peace offensive is certainly more energetic and comprehensive than any previous diplomatic effort of its kind.

The Western governments are not likely to be so foolish as to accept the Communist advances at face value without tangible evidence of good faith. Among rank-and-file citizens, however, there may be a disposition to believe that "peace in our time" is now assured; and perhaps it is not unjust to say that the people of the United States are the most likely to leap to this optimistic conclusion.

CANADIAN ARMY OVERSEAS

Wives Put Up With Unofficial Status in Germany; Not Hubbies

Bill Boss, Canadian Press' staff correspondent with the Canadian forces in Korea since 1950, has spent three weeks in Germany with the 27th Canadian Brigade. In this story, one of a series, he tells how the wives of Canadians in Germany are getting along in their new homes.

By BILL BOSS

HANNOVER, Germany (CP) —Canadian Army wives here say they like it fine.

About 130 wives of officers and NCOs have come in spite of Ottawa's official policy not to "encourage" them to do so.

They find their own apartments, arrange for their own food and other services, and are not entitled officially to use British Army facilities for servicemen's families. Actually, they do.

If the wives are contented their husbands aren't. They want them officially to play the same role as garrison wives back home, and to raise the tone of their husbands' units.

One commanding officer said: "The official policy is to discourage wives. That's being interpreted to mean "be nasy to them."

"We are not allowed to have them into the mess except for one mess function a month, for which official permission is needed."

Like the soldiers, officers may not get overnight passes and are expected to sleep in barracks.

LISTS ADVANTAGES

Another battalion commanding officer said:

"Maintaining a brigade in Europe means married quarters, schools, hospitals, chapels, the whole undertaking of building a settled Canadian army base here. If we can build $250,000,000 air-bases we can certainly afford to make army service abroad attractive too.

"This would have operational consequences. It would mean normal three-year postings, either abroad or at home, with families. It would vastly reduce factors like crime and other troubles, loss of time on one-year foreign postings the army gets something like nine months' service and it would eliminate the need for a back-up brigade.

For themselves the wives say they knew they'd likely see their husbands only week-ends and the occasional evenings.

Mrs. Scott said jokingly: "I'm going to divorce mine as soon as I get back. I'm only waiting to be sure I do get back!"

Then, seriously: "When we do get back we are going to appreciated things a lot more—our washing machines, our freedom, our Canadian way of life."

The women say food costs about the same as in Canada, except good quality meat, which is much cheaper, "especially the steaks."

DOMESTIC ARRANGEMENTS

The women live with either British or German families. A room with three meals a day and maid service in a British home can cost about $60 a month. For about $30 one can have one of two rooms in a German home and the use of the kitchen for one meal a day.

German apartments, furnished, cost upwards of $100 a month.

The girls see a lot of one another, "puttering around, putting in time," they say.

COMMENTS:

CLUES ACROSS

8. FARE is best. The word CAB is a pointer for FARE. You wouldn't expect "any" driver to refuse to take CARE.

14. MOUTH is best. "Suits a girl" is important. YOUTH is not the natural word: "boy-friend" for example would be better.

17. STORM is best. Many a STORY with action and interest in the middle of it tapers off to an indifferent end. In the case of a STORM people seek one thing above all and that is its end.

26. LOG is best. There is nothing very pleasant about a LOW fire, particularly in cold weather.

27. CAGES is best. The clue refers to people in cages which immediately suggests cash cages or tellers' cages. All of these people have ample money for their duties. Certainly many people in CAFES do not necessarily have ample money.

28. LOOKS is best. Good looks can certainly be an asset in some careers. Good BOOKS indicates fine literature and not necessarily technical manuals, etc.

CLUES DOWN

1. LEAN is best. A very MEAN man is unlikely to have any friends.

2. PLOT is best. No kind of BLOT will impress any editor at all. A good PLOT might impress him but a bad one certainly will not.

5. WATCH is best. The use of the singular form favors WATCH. A man carries matches, not a match.

6. SEATING is best. HEATING only when it is cold.

13. STARS is best. On the first night of a show a little delay before the START is quite common and no cause for anxiety.

16. COD is best. Unless we are told that it is a FISHING rod, which we are not, ROD is comparatively vague.

18. TOOL is best. Some sort of TOOL is necessary in CERTAIN jobs. TOIL can be applied to almost any job.

23. BACK is best. When a soldier wears a PACK it is ON his BACK. Thus BACK is the more comprehensive answer since it includes PACK.

SOUTH AFRICA GEARED FOR VOTE

Voters in 26 Key Constituencies to Decide Fate of Malan and Strauss Next Wednesday

By ASTLEY HAWKINS

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Voters in 26 key South African constituencies probably will have the say next Wednesday in deciding whether the strict racial policies of Prime Minister Daniel Malan will continue for another five years or whether the country will switch over to the more modern methods of the United Party, headed by J. G. N. Strauss.

There are 156 seats in the South African House of Assembly to be decided in the election, but of these 70 are generally conceded as safe for Malan's Nationalists and 60 are virtually certain to go to the United party, leaving the balance of power with the voters who decide the remaining 26 contests.

The Nationalists and the United party, unexpectedly pushed out of power under Jan Christian Smuts in 1948, both say they are certain of victory.

But observers say only that the election will be close.

Most of the marginal seats are in the Transvaal and in Cape Province. Ironically, it was Malan's move to disfranchise the "Cape coloreds," a centuries old admixture of races, that provided the background for some of the most dominant issues in the current campaign.

The 26 on-the-fence seats were decided by less than 1,000 votes in the 1948 election. Since then the boundaries of many constituencies have been changed by a delimitation commission and some constituencies have been abolished and replaced by new ones.

296 Candidates Seek Victories

Of 296 candidates of all parties, 148 represent the United party, an increase of nine over their 1948 field. The Nationalists have nominated 137 candidates, compared with 104 in 1948, which included the candidates of the predominantly Dutch Africaner party now amalgamated with them.

The Labor party has six candidates compared with eight in the last elections and there now are five Independents compared with 26 then.

The 1948 election had 304 candidates. But there was a wider variety of parties seeking power, including the South African or Dominion party, and the Communists, who have disappeared from the political scene.

Only 136 of the 156 constituencies will actually see polling April 15, because two Nationalists — 78-year-old Malan, and the speaker of the assembly, J. H. Conradie—and 18 United party candidates were returned unopposed on nomination day and thus are automatically elected.

Of the 136 local battles pending, 127 will be straight fights between the Nationalists and the United party. Five seats will be straight contests between the Nationalists and the Labor party. There will be only four three-cornered elections where Independents will challenge the other parties.

All of Malan's cabinet ministers will have to fight for re-election except the minister for native affairs, Dr. H. F. Verwoerd. He is in the Senate.

Strauss, who will be the next prime minister if the Nationalists lose, will have a straight fight at Germiston, Transvaal, the constituency he has represented since 1932.

Canadian Expansion Sound Howe Tells N.Y. Audience

NEW YORK (CP).—The Canadian trade minister, C. D. Howe, told a Town Hall audience, Tuesday, that Canada's current expansion is founded on a solid basis.

"I often see references to what is called the 'Canadian boom,'" he said in an address prepared for the big New York forum of business and industrial executives. "If this phrase implies that Canada is expanding and prosperous, the description is accurate enough.

"Sometimes, however, the word 'boom' suggests a temporary and artificial prosperity, accompanied by inflation and excessive speculation, and ending inevitably in a 'bust.' In that sense there is no Canadian boom and anyone who goes to Canada looking for one will be disappointed."

The American-born cabinet minister, who has been a citizen of both countries, emprasized three main points in his talk on Canada's economic future:

"That our development is well founded, that our resources are great and growing, and that we look hopefully to co-operation with other countries to solve the problems that we can see ahead."

He also expressed puzzlement over the "apparent unwillingness" of the United States government to extend "the small degree of co-operation required" to enable Canada to procee with the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Howe's speech wound up a series of six meetings of the forum which has a registration of almost 700 business men. Altogether 21 leaders in Canada's government, business and institutional life have addressed the forum which this year was devoted to "Canada—nation on the march."

Other speakers Tuesday were Hume Wrong, Canada's ambassador to the U.S., who spoke on Canada-U.S. relations; and Leonard W. Brockington of Toronto, president of Odeon Theatres of Canada, Ltd., who dealt with "Canada and a better world."

Howe said there is an "almost complete absence of boom psychology in Canada."

The Korean war, although it necessitated some changes of direction in production priority, made little difference in the over-all rate of Canadian expansion. The economy already was working close to capacity and showed every sign of continuing to do so.

EAGER DONORS

WINNIPEG (CP)—The blood donor clinic set up by the Manitoba Red Cross at Fort Osborne barracks was unable to handle all the volunteer donors. They accepted blood from 436 persons, including many veterans of Korea, and announced another clinic would be held for the troops.

YOUNG NOMINEES BEAR TORY FLAG

Party Leader Seeks Oak Bay Seat; Chapman, Patch, Drake City Choices

A swing to youthful candidates may be part of Progressive Conservative strategy in seeking to regain strength in the B.C. Legislature.

First PC candidates nominated anywhere to contest the June 9 election were named in Victoria and Oak Bay Tuesday evening—three in the city and one in the adjoining municipality. The oldest of the four is 40.

In the city, PCs named as candidates Arthur St. Clair Chapman, 40, life insurance salesman and former star athlete; Robert James Patch, 39, a native Victorian engaged for 20 years in the automotive trade here, and Montague L. T. Drake, descendant of a pioneer B.C. family, recently established in law practice.

In Oak Bay, the party's nomination went, as expected, to the 32-year-old provincial party leader, Deane Finlayson of Nanaimo.

In all instances, the nominations were by acclamation.

STRONG OPPOSITION

Mr. Finlayson will seek to recapture for the Conservatives the seat which was held until last year by their former party leader, Herbert Anscomb. His main opponents in the election race will be Archie Gibbs, Liberal, who defeated Mr. Anscomb, and Einar Gunderson, minister of finance in the Social Credit government.

Suggestion of the stress Tories will put on youth in this election was given by Mr. Finlayson in his acceptance speech to the Oak Bay meeting.

"The nucleus of the Progressive Conservative party today is found in those who have remained loyal despite reverses, and in youth," he said. "It is to the young men and women of this province I urgently appeal It is to you that the future belongs, and the responsibility for safeguardng our democratic process."

City Hunts Jobs for So-Called Unemployable

Providing work for "unemployables" on social assistance was considered by city council's welfare committee Tuesday.

Ald. Brent Murdoch felt there were probably some people on social assistance who would welcome earning a little money through odd jobs.

On his suggestion, Mrs. Florence Mutrie, welfare administrator, will meet with the Chamber of Commerce and YMCA to discuss locating work for "unemployables."

"We're paying $12.40 a day for men to water the boulevards and any man can hold a hose," commented Ald. Margaret Christie, chairman.

She objected to paying such wages for boulevard watering when other persons "less fit" from a health standpoint, could do the job for less money.

It was suggested the "unemployables" might be taught to make handicrafts for sale. Ald. Christie thought there was merit in the idea.

We couldn't teach them handicrafts, however, and then have articles which would undersell those of handicapped persons in existing handicraft businesses," said Ald. Christie.

LACK OF FROST MAKES OKANAGAN GROWERS HOPEFUL

KELOWNA (BUP)—Okanagan fruit growers are looking forward to a good crop this year as frost damage has not been serious so far this season.

R. P. Murphy, supervising horticulturist for the provincial government, said that only a few trees in low-lying districts in the interior have been hit by night frosts. South of the border, however, fruit farmers in the Wenatchee and Yakima valleys have reported losses up to 50 per cent from recent freezing temperatures.

N.Y. STOCKS GAIN AGAIN

List Advances Around 2 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced substantially today in its second straight recovery session.

Prices were up around two points at the best with losses ranging to a point.

Higher stocks included Pennsylvania Railroad, Texas Co., Warner Bros., Homestake Mining, Dow Chemical, International Telephone, Republic Steel, Studebaker, U.S. Rubber and Sears Roebuck.

Canadian stocks were higher. Distillers Seagram gained ⅛, Canadian Pacific ⅜ and McIntype ⅞. Hiram Walker lost ¼.

On the American stock exchange Giant Yellowknife was up ¼, Royalite Oil ⅜.

Early Gain Held By Toronto List

TORONTO (CP).—Prices held firmly to early gains toward the stock market's close today.

The market headed higher in the first hour from recent sharp losses, then held steady. Industrials and western oils led the gains with additions of about one point each on the exchange index. Golds and base metals recorded smaller gains.

Gunnar, Chimo, Nesbitt Labine and New Delhi gained in uraniums.

Steels, refining oils and constructions were strong in industrials.

Western oils showed a majority of gains led by General A, Pacific and Peace River.

Senior golds were mixed and secondary issues supplied the strength. Juniors gained.

Heaviest trader was Bellekeno, moving more than 115,000 shares to gain pennies. Eastern Metals and Fenimore also traded heavily for good gains.

Uraniums Star on Vancouver Board

Activity in uraniums featured the mines during this forenoon's Vancouver stock exchange session. Generally, the market had a firmer tone and several issues improved their positions substantially from Tuesday's lows.

Beaverlodge gained nine to 1.49 and National Exploration climbed four to 54. Pacific Nickel went up seven, noon sales being at 1.12. Western Tungsten at 2.75 showed a 10-cent advance. American Standard was unchanged at 21.

New Continental was the chief gainer in the oils, going up 19 to 1.44. Home gained ten cents to trade at $10. Yankee Princess was off two at 95. Anglo-Canadian at 6.95 and Calmont at 1.55 were unchanged.

Canadian Western Lumber hovered around 9.50, Tuesday's close.

Montreal Maintains Its Early Strength

MONTREAL (CP) — Early strength was extended into afternoon business today on the stock market.

Canada Cement firmed 1½ points and McColl-Frontenac one to lead the list generally higher.

All sections of the market participated in the rise, with steels and miscellaneous industrials particularly strong. In these sections Building Products, Dominion Tar, Dominion Bridge and Algoma Steel acquired plus signs.

Mines and western oils posted narrow gains in fairly heavy turnover. Chimo picked up 25 cents, Campbell Chibougamau 20 and Iso 11.

In oils, Antone, Gaspe, Phillips and Tor American rose.

London Speculators Favor Chinese Bonds

LONDON (Reuters)—Feature movements on the London stock exchange today were largely confined to foreign bond market.

A wave of speculative buying, particularly in Chinese bonds, sent prices higher almost all along the line. Chinese issues gained up to five points, Japanese up to two.

Elsewhere conditions became quieter as the session progressed. Commodity shares were steadier and government securities continued to attract small buyers.

B.C. Non-Farm Payrolls Climbed 13% Last Year

Higher Wages Chiefly Responsible; Logging Payroll Cut 10% by Strike

B.C.'s payroll index—a measure of aggregate salary and wage payments in non-agricultural industries—climbed 13 per cent in 1952 over 1951, Minister of Trade and Industry Ralph Chetwynd reports.

To a very large extent the increase in income was caused by higher wages. A small gain in average employment and slightly longer average hours worked were contributing factors. The average weekly wage in 1952 of $59.46 was nearly seven dollars a week more than in the previous year.

The increase in total payrolls was not shared equally by the major industries. The prolonged forest strike resulted in a drop of 10 per cent in logging payrolls and 3 per cent in sawmill payrolls. The average drop in employment was considerably greater in these fields. Logging employment was down 22 per cent and sawmills employment down 12 per cent.

Pulp and paper mills maintained an average employment 5.5 per cent above 1951. In addition substantial wage increases resulted in a payroll gain of 22 per cent.

Mining (especially metal mining) payrolls, employment and average weekly wages all showed sizeable increases in 1952 over the previous year. Employment was 13 per cent greater and the payroll index up 28 per cent.

Employment in British Columbia's shipyards climbed 20 per cent, average weekly wages 16 per cent, resulting in a 36 per cent payroll increase in 1952 compared with 1951.

Major construction projects in the province resulted in a 22 per cent increase in construction employment, a 24 per cent increase in average weekly wages (from $55.71 to $68.81) and an overall increase in payroll disbursements of 52 per cent.

BUSINESS CAN BE GREAT ADVENTURE

The current monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada, addressed to young men leaving school and university, says:

"Business is a strange amalgam of practical common sense and idealism. In it, a young man may perform his allotted task with consistant but dull efficiency; or, by applying his imagination and using initiative, he may make of it a great adventure."

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices made little headway today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, closing near previous closing levels during the dull session. All grains except barley closed higher, most gains coming near the close.

Commercial demand continued light. No information was available on export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Prices for Class Two and IWA wheat were up ⅛ cent.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP)—Early strength in grains gradually evaporated as trading progressed today, only to show some resurgence at the close.

Early May deliveries of corn and oats were firmer and out of line with other contracts, influenced to some extent by local supply factors.

Additional moisture in the winter and spring wheat belt helped ease that cereal and lack of much export business was a further softening influence.

First Wheat Sown On Manitoba Farm

WINNIPEG — Wheat seeding started April 1 just north of Morden, Man. According to a report received by the Canadian Pacific Railways agricultural department, B. W. Rampton sowed 40 acres of wheat last Wednesday. Seeding conditions were perfect.

Moisture was satisfactory near the top but unusually dry subsoil will require considerable rain. First seeding reported last year was April 14 around Holmfield, Man.

U.K. Soon May Free Bulk Copper Buying

LONDON (Reuters) — Free enterprise will replace government-controlled bulk buying of copper late this summer, reliable sources say.

Resumption of world-wide dealings on the London metal exchange was hastened by a decision by the Rhodesian copper producers, who supply most of Britain's requirements of this strategic metal.

Britain's Conservative government, feeling the time is ripe to go back to private enterprise in the copper market, asked the Rhodesian copper producers to accept a three-month notice period for ending the present bulk purchasing arrangements instead of the previous six.

This request has been accepted, the sources said, and Britain could now give notice at the end of April, returning copper to the free market by the end of July.

Taxes, Wages, Exchange Cut Net Earnings

Powell River Profit Down But Sales Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — Powell River Co. Ltd., big West Coast newsprint producer, had net earnings in 1952 of $7,942,393, or $1.98 a share, compared with $9,680,479, or $2.30 a share, in 1951.

More products were sold, says the annual report, and decline in net profits was due chiefly to the lower value of the United States dollar in terms of the Canadian dollar, to increased costs of production and a higher rate of income tax.

Newsprint production was up 4,793 tons to a new high of 303,181 tons, and a further increase is expected this year. The report adds that "newsprint production in North America now is slightly in excess of consumption, which has currently levelled off," but that all standard newsprint which can be produced in Powell River in 1953 has been sold on contract.

Capital expenditures were $8,071,076 in 1952, compared with $18,097,096 in 1951, and the program of modernization and development at Powell River now is substantially completed.

The company, in conjunction with Auminum Company of Canada, has continued investigation with respect to the forest industry "which we hope may be established at Kitimat, B.C.

"Application has been made to the provincial government for a forest management license but until such time as the government feels justified in approving the application, we believe that the investigation and studies have been carried as far as is advisable.

"Preliminary reports of esonomists, engineers and foresters indicate that a newsprint and pulp mill at Kitimat is a practical proposition. Before any final conclusion can be reached, however, it will be necessary to carry out a thorough survey of the timber available, detailed engineering of the site and plant, and further studies of the economic factors, none of which should be undertaken prior to obtaining the approval of the forest management license application.

"Under the circumstances, it may take a year or even longer before all the information necessary to make a decision can be assembled."

Sharp Decline Noted In Canada's Exports

OTTAWA (CP) — World demand for Canadian goods declined during February, slicing exports by $34,400,000, the bureau of statistics reported today.

While imports leaped ahead to $315,200,000 from $282,000,000 last year, exports slid to $279,600,000 from $314,000,000.

Officials estimated that it was the biggest monthly decline in exports in at least three years of foreign trade, resulting in an unfavorable foreign trade balance of $35,600,000.

In February last year Canada had a favorable balance of $32,000,000. The February, 1953, deficit added to a smaller one in January boosted the total two-month unfavorable balance to $42,100,000, a sharp reversal of the $53,400,000 surplus in the first two months of 1952.

The bureau's statement gave no details of the reason for the exports drop, but a brief preliminary summary showed that the curbs were in overseas markets, including Britain.

Exports to the United States increased to $176,800,000 from $171,600,000 last year, while imports climbed to $244,600,000 from $211,800,000.

Shipments to Britain declined to $36,400,000 from $44,500,000, though imports rose to $26,800,000 from $21,300,000.

Total exports to all other Commonwealth countries decreased to $22,400,000 from $25,400,000, while imports slid to $9,000,000 from $16,600,000.

Flyers Pull El Foldo As Canucks Pull Even

VANCOUVER (CP)—Edmonton Flyers ran out of steam in the third period Tuesday night as Vancouver Canucks scored four goals for a 5-2 win in the second game of their Western Hockey League semi-final.

The win tied the best-of-five series at 1-1. The third game is scheduled for Saturday night at Edmonton.

After a scoreless first period, Flyers went into a 2-1 lead in the second on goals by Jim Uniac and Earl Johnson while Larry Popein tallied for Canucks.

Popein, Lou Fontinato, Carl Kaiser and Andy Bathgate scored the third-period goals.

FRANCIS STRONG

Flyers started with a rush, forcing Canuck goalie Emile Francis to stop nine shots in the first five minutes. Francis saved the day with some great stops.

Following the rough first period, Uniac opened the scoring while Johnson was off on a penalty for fighting.

Johnson followed with his goal at 9.38 and, at 16.57, Popein scored Canucks' first marker when goalie Glenn Hall stopped the shot and the puck bounced out and then in off Bud Poile's leg.

SURPRISE SHOT

In the third, Fontinato scored on a shot from 15 feet out which caught Hall by surprise. Popein fired from a similar distance after a three-way passing play at 14.09 and, 17 seconds later, Kaiser took a pass out from the corner to score.

Bathgate scored the last goal 20 seconds from the end of the game on a pass from Popein.

SUMMARY

First period—No scoring. Penalties: Smith 4.37, Zeidel 6.32, Hannigan, Bathgate 9.05, Dick 11.04, Johnson (major and minor), Atanas 18.01.

Second period—1, Edmonton, Uniac (Folk) 1.06; 2, Edmonton, Johnson (Wilson, Folk) 9.38; 3, Vancouver, Popein (Kuzma) 16.57. Penalty: Currie 1.29.

Third period—4, Vancouver, Fontinato (Smith) 4.48; 5, Vancouver, Popein (Fontinato, Bathgate) 14.09; 6, Vancouver, Kaiser (MacKinlosh, Kuzma) 14.26; 7, Vancouver, Bathgate (Popein, Kuzma) 19.40. Penalty: Folk 18.15.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

SONOMA, Calif.—Though it's still much too early to tell, an interesting situation which may result in the Tyees being able to offer a first baseman as trading bait, has the earmarks of developing here.

Joe Clardy, the slender slugging first sacker up from Las Vegas of the Southwest International League (Class C), has designs on Chuck Abernathy's berth at the initial cushion.

As a matter of fact, perhaps it should be noted first that Abernathy wasn't expected back this year, but arrived at camp resolved to wage a battle for his station.

Walker

Clardy is a fellow in his fifth year of professional baseball, all of it in Class D and C ball, and brings a .346 batting mark with him from the SI circuit. He led that league in runs with 142; hits, 202; and total bases, 321, last year while clouting 33 doubles, 22 triples (also a league high) and 14 home runs. In addition he knocked in 103 runs. A distinct pull hitter, Clardy rifles the ball and is fancy enough around the bag to give the indication that Abernathy has a tough task on his hands if he hopes to remain. Left-handed all the way, Clardy stands about 6 feet tall and is a keen student of the game.

The other day Garriott was giving his pitchers pointers in the pick-off play at first. And on several of the moves by the hurlers, most of whom are rookies, it was Clardy who was spotting the flaw in their motion that distinguishes a "smart move" from a balk. He is keen to advance into Class A and never hesitant about discussing any problems he might have with others or, when the need arises, asking for advice.

Abernathy, on the other hand, appears to have recovered from the recurrent attacks of a back injury which plagued him for a time last season. He spent a quiet winter, and also one of extreme moderation, he admits, and although he has not yet found his batting eye, has shown more spirit and hustle than was his normal custom last season.

Abernathy, who started last year in fine fettle, ended with a .277 batting mark. After being with the leaders in runs-batted in until sidelined by various illnesses, he tailed off in the latter half of the year. It is no secret that general manager Reg Patterson attempted to make an off-season deal for the big redhead and, if Clardy continues to impress, it is believed that Chuck will be again put on the auction block. However, as of now, the position is up for grabs, as Garriott, in his usual cautious style, says: "Every place on the team is wide open, you know that." Still, Garriott has been heard to speak favorably of the Les Vegas graduate.

DIAMOND DUST—Young Berlyn Hodges of Victoria has been getting plenty of work here and, best of all, his control is showing marked improvement. . . . He still appears a year or two away from this classification, however, but if he continues to show a willingness to absorb knowledge, there is the possibility that he may be farmed out for additional seasoning. Also from the home front it is learned that Art Worth may be the Spokane first baseman this year. . . . At last notice Worth was the only first baseman in the tribe's camp. . . . Joe Harford is yet another Victorian seeking to make the grade in pro ball, having been offered a tryout with Yakima. . . . Harford, a catcher, played in Moose Jaw last year. . . .

Only casualty of the camp so far, except for the normal bruises and sprains, has been Brien, a young infielder, who caught a bat with his nose and suffered a cracked proboscis as a result. . . . He was back in action the next day.

Rowing Club Here for Poole Benefit Match

A friendly rugby rivalry that has existed since 1937 will be resumed Saturday at Macdonald Park when JBAA, of the Victoria Rugby Union's first division, play the host for Vancouver Rowing Club at 3.

The game is an annual item of the calendars of both clubs with the Arthur Cox Trophy as bait.

However, this year the players will have an added incentive as the game will be played as a benefit match for John Poole, member of the local club who broke his leg in a game last October and has been out of work since that time, having the cast removed only last week.

RECEIVES PROCEEDS

All proceeds from the game will be turned over to Poole, and JBAA members are hoping for a large crowd to help defray the expenses accumulated by Poole during his recovery.

Fielding one of the strongest sides in their history, JBAA also hopes to send Vancouver back home with a loss this year, something that would be a change from the usual result. Since 1937, JBAA has been able to win only one of the matches, that victory coming last year by an 8-6 score.

TYEES WIN FIRST

Garriott Cuts Bulging Roster

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

SONOMA, Calif.—Manager Cec Garriott of the Victoria Tyees cut five men off the club roster Tuesday and intimated that further cuts would follow.

The five were outfielders Wes Crossley, Ross Washington and Bill Mousseau, infielder Nick Cannuli and pitcher Ralph Strem.

Meanwhile, another prospect joined the squad in the person of right-handed pitcher Bob Fitt, leaving 24 players still in camp. Fitt has had semi-pro experience and came to camp on his own hook.

FIRST VICTORY

On Monday night the Tyees won their first game of the grapefruit season, defeating Santa Rosa Junior College 9-6.

Catcher Milt Martin sparked the game-winning four-run rally in the eighth inning, doubling home what proved to be the winning run in his first plate appearance since joining the club Sunday night.

Chuck Abernathy started on the mound for the Tyees in manager Cec Garriott's big experiment for last year's first baseman.

Abernathy allowed one run in the first inning and then shut out the collegians until the fifth.

Bill Wisneski came on in the sixth, gave up two unearned runs in that frame, two more in the eighth and one in the ninth.

Outfielder Walt Tyler led the Tyees at the plate with a single and a triple, scoring one run and batting in another.

A combination of three walks and two Santa Rosa errors gave the Tyees three runs in the second. Martin's double, a single by rookie second baseman Dave Brien, Tyler's single and two walks accounted for the four run outburst in the eighth.

Tuesday's scheduled game between the Tyees and Vancouver Capilanos was canceled because of rain at the Vancouver Heraldsburg camp.

Alberni Drops Second Game Of Cage Final

WINNIPEG (CP).—Winnipeg Light Infantry moved within one game of the Western Canada junior men's basketball title Tuesday as they downed Port Alberni Chieftans 64-48.

The win put the Winnipeg club up 2-0 in the best-of-five final series. The third game is scheduled here tonight.

A second-half rally brought the British Columbia team to within three points of the winners early in the fourth quarter and with three minutes to go they were down eight points. Winnipeg turned on the heat and scored 13 points in the last three minutes.

Dick Herbertson used a looping one-hand shot to score 19 points for Winnipeg. George Klohn accounted for 13. Guards Bob Ketchen and Rudy Schilling got eight points each.

Dave Williamson popped in 12 points to lead the Chieftans. Jack Mosdell scored 10.

Grant Alfonso of Winnipeg took a five-stitch cut over his right eye in the second quarter but is expected to dress for the Wednesday game.

Port Alberni—Perry, Mosdell 10, Williamson 12, Veitch 8, Sweeney, Shick 6, Knowles, Pennington 10, Boylan 2. Total, 48.

Winnipeg—Hutton 3, White 2, Shilling 8, Doyle 3, Klohn 13, Hill 4, Herbertson 17, Kitchen 8, Alfonso 6. Total 64.

SOFTBALL MEETING

Senior "B" Softball League will hold a meeting Thursday night at 8 in the British Public Schools Club and team representatives are requested to be on hand with their entry fees.

Deadline for league entries is Thursday.

Golden Bears Even Series With Leafs

VANCONUVER (CP) — University of Alberta Golden Bears got apother "mauling" Tuesday night but the students came up with a 73-70 victory over Vancouver Clover Leafs to tie the best-of-five Western Canada men's basketball championship series at one game apiece.

Bears' coach Maury van Vliet, who pulled a "fast one" on Clover Leafs by bringing only eight men to the series, almost saw his strategy pay off. When the final whistle blew, Leafs had only five players left; three men going out on fouls.

PLAYOFF RULE

Under CBA playoff rules, each team dresses the same number of players and the choice of the number rests with the visiting team. Edmonton had eight and Clover Leafs had to go with the same number.

Only one Edmonton player, Len Cooper, left the game on fouls.

Clover Leafs held a three-minute lead of 13-4, but when the first quarter ended the Bears held a 20-19 advantage.

The lead changed hands seven times during the first half, which ended with Bears on top by 36-33.

Guard Jack McKinnon topped the Vancouver scorers with 19 points. Ed Lucht led the Bears with 29 points.

Bears: Lucht 29, Cooper, N. Macintosh 8, Kurger, Das, Newton 12, Mendryk 7, Macintosh 17. Total, 73.

Leafs: Stuart 4, Robertson 8, L. Mulhern 3, Dean 10, Craig 15, McKinnon 19, Scarr 2, Mulhern 9. Total, 70.

CIVIL SERVICE, ADANACS MEET IN CUP SEMIFINAL

Civil Service tangles with Adanacs in a Victoria and District Football Association semifinal contest for the Jackson Cup at Royal Athletic Park Saturday at 2.30 p.m.

Winner of this match will meet Canadian Scottish in the final round. Scottish handed league champion Victoria Wests their only defeat of the season in a semifinal last week.

Canadian Scottish play Esquimalt in a postponed league contest at Heywood Avenue Sunday afternoon at 2.30.

EDDIE MAZUR
. . . what a performance!

Mazur Scores Two Goals In Semifinal Victory

By RAY TIMSON

MONTREAL (BUP) — Stanley Cup rookie Eddie (Spider) Mazur, a $1,500 "steal" from Toronto, had this hockey hilarious town at his every beck and call today.

The 200-pound giant won the hearts of the Habitants with a two-goal spree Tuesday night that sank Chicago 4-1 and pitted the Montreal Canadiens against the Boston Bruins in the 1953 cup final opening here Thursday.

"He was magnificent," coach Dick Irvin enthused. "He was the hidden hand—the performance that comes out of nowhere, either for or against you, to win hockey games."

Mazur, a six-foot two-inch wanderer from Winnipeg, actually came out of five years of planning by Canadien general manager Frank Selke. He was an unprotected star of the Winnipeg Monarchs, a junior team sponsored by the Toronto Maple Leafs, when a report on his spectacular rushes sent Selke west to take a peek at him.

"I liked him from the start," Selke recalled. "And when I learned the Leafs had not put him on a negotiation list, I bought him pronto. He has cost me about $1,500 and those goals he scored last night must have been worth $3,000 apiece which makes me a bit of a horsetrader I guess."

Selke and Irvin, shipped Mazur first to Dallas, then Victoria of the Western League for two seasons, Buffalo last year and Victoria again this year. He "came up" to the Canadiens for two games in 1951, for five in 1952 when he scored two goals against Boston in semifinal play.

Spider's Introduction to Rollins

His two goals last night were the most important of his 23-year lifetime and unquestionably earned him a spot on the Canadiens' 1953-54 roster.

Mazur electrified the 14,406 fans in the Forum at 15.36 of the second period when he picked up a loose puck in the Chicago end zone and, after a couple of shifty moves, sizzled a shot at the Chicago net. It sped by lanky Al Rollins about ankle high and put the Canadiens in front 2-1. They were never headed.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion had scored his fifth goal of the full-route series in the first period while Black Hawk captain Bill Gadsby sat out the first penalty of the game. Old pro Bill (Scooter) Mosienko matched it in the second stanza when he picked up his own rebound and whistled it past rookie netminder Jacques (The Snake) Plante.

Miracle man Mazur broke the tie 88 seconds later. In the third period while Al Dewsbury was serving a penalty, Maurice (Rocket) Richard scored the 50th playoff goal of his career and it completely broke the back of Chicago's attempts to tie it up again. Mazur assisted on the Rocket's goal, his third of the seven-game series.

Five minutes later, a locomotive-like figure flashed again into the Chicago end zone, skating like a March wind, and took Elmer Lach's pass from 15 feet out. The shot roared past Rollins, who again was looking Eddie Mazur in the eye. It was all over.

Abel Predicts Montreal Victory

"Give 'em hell, Dick. You can win it," freshman coach Sid Abel shouted across the ice to Irvin when the siren and the fans' screams ended the game.

"I think the Canadiens will beat Boston," Abel amplified later in his dressing room. "They played better hockey than we did but it still took them seven games to beat us and I've no complaints against my club."

Abel was certain to receive Coach of the Year honors, despite the loss. It was Chicago's first semifinal in seven years.

Silver-thatched Irvin, who coached Stanley Cup winners in Toronto in 1932 and in Montreal in 1944 and 1946, was his usual pessimistic self.

"Boston will be no pushover," he said. "They could win it in four straight games. They're that kind of a club. But if they win, they'll know they've been in with the most dogged team in the whole league."

And with that, coach Irvin turned and ordered "the guys who didn't work hard" to be out promptly at 10.30 this morning for a practice.

Irvin is 60 now, the oldest coach in the league, but he's still got a lot of fire—and a confidence in gambling. Substituting Plante for Gerry McNeil and putting kids like Eddie Mazur on the punch line with Richard and Lach took a lot of guts. But it worked.

NHL SUMMARY

First Period—1, Montreal, Geoffrion (Lach, Olmstead) 1.38. Penalties: Gadsby .22, Moore, Mortson 3.25, Bouchard 10.42.

Second Period—2, Chicago, Mosienko (Morison) 14.15; 3, Montreal, Mazur 15.36. Penalties: Hucul 5.05, Lach, Mosienko 17.33.

Third Period—4, Montreal, Richard (Mazur, Lach) 4.51; 5, Montreal, Mazur (Lach) 13.55. Penalty: Dewsbury 3.18.

Lynn Sees Long Set With Habs

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Lynn Patrick said today the Stanley Cup hockey championship series between his Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens should be "a great series and probably a long one, too."

After listening to a broadcast of Tuesday night's game at Montreal, when the Canadiens clinched their semi-final series with Chicago 4-1 in the seventh game, Patrick said:

"The Canadiens are the same club that beat us in seven games in last year's semi-final round. We're stronger this year.

"I figure Canadiens a more dangerous team than Chicago. They have good scorers in Rocket Richard and Boom-Boom Geoffrion."

Boston holds a 9-3 victory margin over Montreal in the 14-game regular season series between the two teams with two games tied. Richard was held to three goals by Boston, two here and one at the Forum.

Boston Capt. Milt Schmidt, who suffered a three-stitch cut on the lower back when he fell and sat on his own skate against Detroit last Sunday, said he'll be ready to play in tomorrow night's opener at Montreal.

★ ★ ★

Patrick said he doesn't plan to use 36-year-old veteran Woody Dumart to "shadow" Richard. Dumart picketed high-scoring Gordie Howe of the Red Wings in the semi-final series and was a big factor in the surprising upset by Boston which won in six games.

Howe, the National Hockey League's scoring champion this season, got only two goals, neither chargable to laxity on Dumart's part.

"We'll have no special assignments for Montreal," Patrick added. "No one in particular will chase Richard."

BOSTON READY

Box Lacrosse Entries Deadline on Thursday

All team entries in the senior "B" division of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association must be filed by Thursday night.

A meeting of the association will be held Thursday night at the British Public Schools Club at 8 and all teams are requested to have delegates attend.

BEN LORINO MAY PITCH FOR FRISCO THIS YEAR

SONOMA, Calif.—Pitcher Ben Lorino of the Tyees will likely get an early tryout with San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League.

Club manager Cec Garriott was known to have been in contact with Seal officials Tuesday and although final arrangements had not been completed, it was believed that Lorino will go to the Seals on a look-see basis.

Lorino previously attended the Portland camp this spring, but reportedly did not receive a true trial.

Lorino said he would be only too pleased to get a chance with the Seals and believes that he is capable of winning in the Coast League. He won 24 and lost seven for the Tyees last year.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUND-UP

Spring Flops Big Headache

By FRED DOWN, United Press Sports Writer

Spring training is traditionally a period of hope but, with the major league openers less than a week distant, several managers are having sleepless nights over the poor performances of key players.

The list of these Grapefruit League disappointments includes such well-known players as Enos Slaughter and Solly Hemus of the Cardinals, Carl Furillo of the Dodgers, Alex Kellner of the Athletics, Bob Nieman of the Tigers, Walker Cooper and Sid Gordon of the Braves and Mickey McDermott of the Red Sox.

CARDS TROUBLED

Manager Eddie Stanky has been encouraged by the fine performances of rookies Ray Jablonski, Rip Repulski and Steve Bilko but he has a right to be concerned over Slaughter and Hemus. The 36-year-old Slaughter's spring batting mark is a mere .137 and Hemus, counted upon to be the regular shortstop and a sound leadoff man, is hitting only .152.

Stanky, of course, hopes both have been merely taking it easy in the practice games and will snap out of it when the cash is on the line.

Furillo, who blamed eye trouble for his .247 batting average last season, is tapping away at about .200 for the Dodgers this spring and manager Charley Dressen is beginning to take another look at young outfielders.

Kellner, the Athletics' No. 3 pitcher, has been battered for an average of a run an inning in exhibition games, Nieman is hitting only .233 for the Tigers, Cooper and Gordon are lingering at the .200 mark for the Braves and McDermott, the speedball left-hander, has been rocked for 19 runs in 13 innings of exhibition-game pitching.

Opening day pitchers already named were Allie Reynolds, 20-game winner and world series hero of the Yankees; "Hard Luck" Bob Porterfield of the Senators, a 13-game winner in 1952; Mel Parnell (12-12) of the Red Sox; Virgil Trucks (5-19 for the Tigers in 1952) and 14-game winner Carl Erskine of the Dodgers.

SOFTBALL MEETING

The Victoria Girls' Softball League will hold an important meeting Thursday night at 873 Admirals Road at 8. Team representatives and any others interested are asked to be in attendance.

SAANICHTON SOFTBALL

The Saanichton Community Club annual softball meeting will be held in the Saanichton Agricultural Hall tonight at 8. All players interested in playing are asked to attend.

Polson Heads Colwood Area Softball Loop

At the annual meeting of the Colwood and District Softball League recently, R. Polson was elected president of the circuit.

Others elected were G. Soutar vice-president; R. E. Vantreight, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. F. Lajeunesse, registrar; R. Knott, G. Michell, J. LeQuesne, B. Muir, S. Morton and W. Allen, executive.

H. Downard is honorary president, while Bob Whyte, Ernie Stock and W. Allen form the advisory committee.

Teams wishing to enter the league must notify the registrar by April 15.

Another meeting will be held April 22 at Luxton Hall and all managers are asked to attend.

Milligan Tops Coast League Goal-Getters

Wally Milligan, recently retired coach and centre-forward of Victoria United, has clinched the Coast Soccer League goal scoring title for this season.

Milligan has potted 19 markers and is followed by Andy Menyes of St. Andrews with 14.

Only one game remains on the league schedule and none of the scoring leaders are participating.

Other scoring leaders follow: Gogie Stewart, New Westminster Royals, 13. Cedric Robb, Victoria, 11. Lex Henderson, Royals, 10. Dave Redline, Firefighters, 10. Frank Ambler, Firefighters, 9. Ivan Carr, Royals, 9. Errol Crossan, Royals, 9. Danny Rogers, Vancouver City 9. Fred Whittaker, North Shore, 9. Tom McHugh, Vancouver City, 7. Brian Philley, Vancouver City 6.

Mechanics of Pitching

New York University pitchers, left to right, Shelly Lipson, Vennie Lupica, Irwin Gerringer and Bill Oster, sit in wonderment watching the team's new automatic pitching machine take over batting practice. Becoming widely popular in college baseball, the I-Q Pitcher operates with the same motion as a human hurler, can throw anything from a slow ball to a fast one. (NEA Telephoto.)

Branca Walks in Shadow Since That October Day

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—After a year and a half, Ralph Branca still is walking in the shadows.

Big Ralph, you'll remember, threw the home-run ball to Bobby Thomson which cost the Brooklyn Dodgers the 1951 National League pennant. Never since has he been the pitcher he was before.

Ailments, some real and others believed to be imaginary, have made him a very infrequent starter. Now, as another season gets under way, the big fellow who was supposed to prove himself this time out is bothered by a "bad back."

The validity of the injury undoubtedly is questioned by manager Chuck Dressen. The little leader of the Dodgers has taken no pains to conceal his disdain at Branca's continued reluctance to fire the ball at the plate. His unspoken indictment is that Branca in his mind always will be throwing that fatal home-run ball every time he steps to the mound, thus accounting for an unconscious unwilingness to pitch.

Dressen could be right.

For you knew, when you saw Branca, immediately after Thomson's home run blast that October day in 1951, that here was a man crushed completely. Branca is six feet three inches tall and weighs 220 pounds, but he sat in stunned silence in the Dodger dressing room, too shocked even to sob.

Branca came in, fired one pitch past Thomson — and then the raw-boned Scot belted the ball high through the late afternoon gloom and into the stands. It was the ball game—and the pennant.

It may have been the end of Branca, too.

Because last year those injuries, some of them said to be imaginary, began to plague Branca. Always before, big Ralph had been a workhorse. He had worked as many as 280 innings one season and, in 1951, had been in 204.

But last season he worked only 61 innings. He complained bitterly that he was not given enough work but Dressen retorted sharply that he was used as much as his "ailments" permitted.

This spring, Branca was optimistic when the workouts began in Florida. But, as usual, he showed that Thomson was there in his mind wallöping home runs.

"I'll throw my arm out, if necessary, to get him out," he grated. "I'm not going to be a country cousin to him any longer."

But, apparently, it is a fraudulent kinship which cannot be dissolved. There is a feeling in the brain department of the Dodgers that every time big Ralph rears back and throws toward the plate the hitter is Bobby Thomson.

As long as it's that way, they feel, the big guy will be plagued by "ailments" to take him away from an October afternoon in 1951.

Turf Hero, Whirlaway Dies on Farm Pasture

PARIS (AP)—Whirlaway, the bush-tailed Calumet flier who won the triple crown of United States horse racing in 1941 and set the Kentucky Derby record which still stands, died Tuesday at Marcel Boussac's stud farm in southern Normandy.

Boussac's stable manager, F. de Brignac, said death came unexpectedly as the result of a ruptured nerve tissue. He gave no other details. The great thoroughbred was 15 years old.

Foaled and bred on Calumet Farm's blue grass spread in Lexington, Ky., the chestnut champion who thrilled racing crowds with his spectacular finishes was sent to France in 1950, first leased and then sold to Boussac, Europe's leading owner and breeder.

Whirlaway, son of Blenheim II and Dushwhirl, was entering his third year of stud in France when death came.

EARNED HALF MILLION

"Mr. Longtail," as he became affectionately known to horse racing writers and followers everywhere, was the first thoroughbred to earn $500,000 on the track. But in 1943, when he was being pointed for the million dollar mark, he was hobbled by a leg ailment.

It was then that the late Warren Wright, master of Calumet, and his famous trainer, Ben Jones, decided to retire Whirlaway to stud.

In 1941 he became one of eight winners of racing's "grand slam" — the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont. His time of 2:01 2-5 continues to stand as the record for the derby's mile and a quarter. Eddie Arcaro was his jockey in that race.

32-TIME WINNER

Whirlaway won 32 of his 60 races and finished out of the money only four times. His total track earnings were $561,161. He was the leading money winning horse from July, 1942, to June, 1947.

The first of five derby winners for Calumet, Whirlaway beat them all for furnishing the grandstand with thrills. When the field headed for home, the chestnut speedster would lower his head and uncork an amazing burst of stretch speed.

Patrick May Succeed Ross as Boston GM

By RAY TIMSON

MONTREAL (BUP) — This could be the last year Arthur H. (Uncle Art) Ross leads the Boston Bruins into a Stanley Cup final as general manager.

Subsequently, it might be the start of a new Patrickian era in hockey.

If the mellowing Ross, now 67, does not seek a renewal of his $23,000 a year contract when it expires May 1, coach Lynn Patrick would appear to have a 70-30 chance of increasing his $12,000 salary by shouldering the mantle.

The 30 per cent chance, it is seen here, would be that Aubrey (Dit) Clapper might get the post.

Patrick certainly would deserve the promotion. Getting "de Broons" into the Stanley Cup final was a sort of financial face-saving for the club. It most certainly will end the year now in the black. When Patrick left the New York Rangers to take the Boston job in 1950, it was indicated that he was training for an executive spot. The same reports then said Capt. Milt Schmidt would take over as coach when Lynn leaped up the ladder.

For the hockey fan today, however, the end of the Ross-reigned club would mean more than the birth of a new Patrickian era. Uncle Art eventually may be tagged the father of modern hockey. His feats are unbelievable. And they were recorded long before he founded the Bruin team in 1924.

GREAT CAREER

Consider these career anecdotes: At the age of 19, when he was a $600 a year clerk in a bank at Brandon, Man., he was paid $1,000 to play in two games for Cobalt when dough-heavy miners of the Northern Ontario town wanted to hang a dandy on nearby Haileybury in a home-and-home series.

Ross was knocked out on his first rush down the ice. He returned to action before the period ended, just in time to be clubbed on the nose by a Haileybury stick and taken to the bench very, very unconscious. It happened three more times before the game ended. Ross left the rink with his $500 and 18 stitches, but his goals and checking had given the betting miners a victory. He won the second game, too, and left with his pockets stuffed with nuggets and mining certificates.

A slow-skating defenseman, Ross was one of the game's best bruisers. In one game the Montreal Wanderers played against the Canadiens in about 1910, five Wanderers were penalized in one whack, leaving Ross and Rily Hearn, the goalie, to oppose the seven Frenchmen the game allowed at that time. Ross kept the puck from the Canadiens until his team was at full strength again.

Perhaps the most famous story told about Art Ross concerns the night in 1915 when the Ottawa Senators met the Wanderers for the second of a two-game total-goal Stanley Cup series. The Senators, with whom Ross appeared as playing coach, had upset Montreal 4-0 in the opening game at Ottawa. Everyone fully expected the Wanderers to overcome the goal lead in the finale.

NEW STYLE

But when the two teams lined up for the start of the game, thousands stared in disbelief as the Ottawa players, with the exception of the goalie, were strung out in a line across centre, a formation the Wanderers were able to penetrate only once during the game they won 1-0. That is the night that the "kitty bar the door" style of hockey was born.

Kitty has grown a little older, changed her shape and her style. But if the Bruins win the Stanley Cup this year the reason unquestionably will be the defensive tactics the game has developed since kitty crept.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Birthmark Superstition Has No Basis in Scientific Fact

There is nothing so persistent as a superstition. A recent letter says, "Until recently I thought the old wives' tale of marking an unborn child by some action of the mother had gone out with the Dark Ages. However, when our child was born with a red birthmark, I found how wrong I was and how many people honestly believe in this nonsense. Would you please throw some light on this subject?"

There are almost as many superstitions surrounding the appearance of birthmarks as there are about warts. Even today, in this so-called enlightened age, many people believe that birthmarks result from some incident to which the mother is exposed while carrying the child.

Typical is the idea that, when a baby is born with a strawberry mark, the mother showed an uncontrollable desire for these berries during pregnancy. Often, too, the appearance of a birthmark is blamed on some fright of the mother during her pregnancy.

It may be stated categorically that there is no scientific evidence whatever to support any such beliefs.

There are several kinds of birthmarks. Many of them are moles, which may be flat or elevated and dark or almost skin color. Brown ones are called pigmented moles. Some are hairy.

Some birthmarks are made up of numerous tiny blood vessels in the skin. Some are level with the surface of the skin but have a dark purplish color which gives them the common name of port wine marks.

Birthmarks may be made up of blood vessels which are raised above the skin level and are soft and spongy. These are called strawberry marks. This type may occur anywhere but is particularly common around the lips or tongue.

MARK LOOKS LIKE SPIDER

Another common variety of birthmark made up of blood vessels is irregularly shaped and slightly raised. It is called a spider nevus because the blood vessels at the centre resemble a spider's body, while the smaller ones passing outward resemble the legs of this insect.

What treatment should be used for a birthmark depends on the location, the size and the kind. Some can be removed by local treatment, including surgery, various types of electric cautery, freezing with carbon dioxide snow, X-rays or radium or certain chemical agents.

But it is not always advisable to remove or fade birthmarks even when they are on conspicuous parts of the body, like the face. Expert advice must be obtained. Many, for example, will fade of themselves as the child gets older.

Prairies Need Early Rain To Save Crops

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba department of agriculture said in a statement Tuesday that early rain is essential if a crop failure on the Prairies is to be avoided this year.

The statement said soil moisture reserves in large areas of Manitoba were depleted following a dry period beginning last fall, particularly in southern and eastern Manitoba. Pasture would be affected first by a dry spell, then crops.

Officials of the department are gravely concerned over the lack of moisture, which extends throughout the central plains and has had an adverse effect on winter wheat planted in the southern United States.

Moisture reserve on stubble land in Manitoba is 77 per cent of normal and in the three Prairie provinces 80 per cent of normal. Reserve on summer-fallow land is 107 per cent of normal.

Carnarvon Park Plan Calls for $9,000 Vote

Leveling, draining, plowing and seeding of half of Carnarvon Park is included in Oak Bay 1953 estimates, according to statements made Tuesday by municipal engineer, A. S. G. Musgrave.

If passed by council the project means an expenditure of $9,000. When completed, the park will be as large as Windsor Park, will include four tennis courts, a baseball diamond and two playing areas for soccer. It will be surrounded by a hedge.

Dredging of First Narrows To Start This Year—Fournier

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Fournier said Tuesday night in the Commons that he hopes dredging of the First Narrows in Vancouver harbor will start this year.

He said the government plans to call for tenders for the project, which will "run into millions," as soon as it gets passage of supplementary estimates later. He was speaking in discussion on his main estimates, which do not include the First Narrows cost.

Mr. Fournier said the Narrows entrance into Vancouver harbor is to be dredged to 40-foot depth.

"The moment it is authorized we will call tenders," he told Howard Green (PC., Vancouver-Quadra).

Mr. Green said there is "great urgency" about the First Narrows job. Some of the oil companies were saying that, because Vancouver harbor needs improvement, they were going to pipe some Alberta oil across the boundary to the United States.

He considered that "just an argument" and did not believe coastal tankers could not enter the harbor. However, he did not want Vancouver's reputation damaged because of this view.

Noted Canadian Illustrator Shows Pen Drawings Here

Black and white pen drawings by an eastern illustrator of international repute, Thoreau Macdonald, are creating interest at the Arts Centre here.

Mr. Macdonald, who has provided 150 scenes of Ontario countryside for the current show, is best known for his illustrations of classic literature. The display will be held over for three weeks at the Moss Street centre.

Also featured during this period are paintings lent from the permanent collection of the Vancouver Gallery.

TORIES CHAMPION CIVIL SERVANTS

Finlayson Reveals Party Alternate To Rolston Educational Formula

Establishment of a new Civil Service Commission and introduction of a new system of financing education costs will be two of the main planks in the Progressive Conservative's 1953 election platform.

This was revealed Tuesday night by Deane Finlayson, party leader, in accepting the Conservative nomination in Oak Bay.

Mr. Finlayson, speaking at St. Mary's Church Hall, said the new Civil Service Commission, which his party proposed, would "remove the civil service from all political interference."

He said such a step was necessary "to avert such brutal treatment of civil servants as we have seen lately."

"People who are prepared to make a lifetime work of civil service should be made secure from political interference and should be encouraged to give their utmost in service and efficiency," he said.

With regard to education costs, Mr. Finlayson revealed the Progressive Conservatives were prepared to institute an 80-20 plan with municipalities for financing operation of schools, and a 50-50 plan for building new schools.

The provincial government would bear the 80 per cent of the operating cost, he said, leaving the municipality to shoulder only 20 per cent.

In instances where a city or municipality did not favor the 80-20 division, however, Conservatives would be prepared to carry all of the costs with the exception of what share could be raised in the municipality by a levy of 9 mills on 100 per cent of assessed land values and 75 per cent of assessed improvements, he explained.

"This," said Mr. Finlayson, "is substantially the plan already approved by the Union of B.C. Municipalities."

ALTERNATIVE FORMULA

It will be this plan which Tories will put forward in opposition to the Social Credit's Rolston Formula, on which the government of Premier Bennett was defeated in the House.

Mr. Finlayson amused his audience by beginning his acceptance speech: "I must say this is a complete surprise. I just came here minding my own business and see what's happened." He then proceeded to read a prepared address thanking the meeting for its support and urging all within the party to come out "fighting mad" in the current campaign.

Mr. Finlayson said past reverses at the polls had made the party clean house. He said: "The experience has been good for us."

"We are now reconstructed. We know where we are going. The character of our party has changed somewhat. We are now a crusading, fighting force."

"High hopes that people held for Social Credit have been shattered," he said. "While there are many fine people following the Social Credit party, the control has fallen into the sands of self-seeking, self-righteous and ambitious men—make no mistake about that."

"The last sitting of the Legislature proved beyond doubt that political expediency over the public interest," he said. "Reckless, hastily - conceived, vote-catching regulations and legislations were introduced, and when consent of the Legislature was not required were rammed through."

Free Food Cards Sent For City's Needy

One hundred surplus food stall cards will be distributed to persons on social assistance by the city welfare department, City Council's welfare committee agreed Tuesday. Mrs. Barbara Green, stall operator, sent the cards, which enable needy persons to get free food at the stall in the Public Market on set distribution days.

SLOW DRIVERS AUTOMOBILE CLUB TARGETS

Slow speeds on highways will be made illegal if the Victoria Automobile Club has its way.

The group will approach the government, municipal authorities and all others concerned with highway travel to have necessary legislation enacted, said president R. W. Hibberson.

Described as a growing habit, slow speed is an accident hazard, he added. He suggests that B.C. follow the lead of Nova Scotia and Ontario, which already prohibit slow drivers from holding up traffic.

7-Week Season for City Playgrounds

Supervised playground season in Victoria will open July 6 for a seven-week period, City Council's parks committee learned Tuesday.

Gordon Hartley will be supervisor in charge.

Beacon Hill and Central Parks will be supervised full time from July 6 to August 22. Owing to this year's reduced budget, however, eight other parks will operate full time for three and one-half weeks only.

W. H. Warren, parks administrator, said 60 per cent of attendance is chalked up at Central and Beacon Hill.

Banfield, Oaklands, James Bay and Hollywood will be supervised from July 6 to 28, and Burnside, Stadacona, Quadra Heights and Redfern from July 29 to August 22.

The supervised playground budget was cut in 1952 also, and the eight smaller parks were operated on a part-time basis for the seven-week period. Mr. Warren proposed the new schedule this year to provide "greater continuity."

IF YOU CAN'T ADD, DON'T JOIN CHINA'S CENSUS-TAKERS

HONG KONG (BUP)—Communist China plans to take a pre-election census in only 24 hours—it will take three months to add up the figures.

A Radio Peiping broadcast said the census will be a "simple count of the population."

In 1948, China's population was 463,500,000, largest of any country in the world.

COURTENAY—Local fish and game association has endorsed a resolution to purchase a 54-acre site with one-half mile of river frontage beyond Puntledge River Park.

Roy Harrison, who investigated the property, said the club would require 18 acres, and the balance could be sold to members. If and when the property is sub-divided, the club should double the money invested, he said. There is also $400 to $600 worth of timber on the property.

Hammarskjold Named UN's New Sec.-Gen.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The general assembly gave final approval Tuesday to the big powers' choice of Sweden's Dag Hammarskjold as secretary-general of the United Nations.

The Swedish diplomat-economist succeeds Trygve Lie, a former Norwegian Labor party man who held the job through seven turbulent years.

Lie will formally hand over the reins to the 47-year-old Swede at ceremonies here Friday.

In a farewell speech, the burly 57-year-old Lie told the assembly that the ability of both East and West to agree on a successor "fulfilled the main hope that moved me to submit my resignation last November."

Lie ended his emotion-packed address by turning directly to the chief Soviet delegate, Andrei Vishinsky, and saying:

"If I have made mistakes, I hope you will forgive me and I most certainly will forgive you."

Vishinsky said in his speech that Lie's resignation was "unfortunately considerably belated."

MPs Ask Gregg to Try End B.C. Grain Strike

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Striking CIO grain workers and company officials had no immediate comment today on the suggestion of two Vancouver members of Parliament that Federal Labor Minister Milton Gregg make a renewed effort to settle the eight-week strike.

Conservative Howard Green, of Vancouver-Quadra, and CCF member Angus MacInnis, of Vancouver-East, suggested in the House yesterday that negotiators for the five elevator companies and their employees go to Ottawa in an effort to get them together on a settlement. They said that move had helped avert a similar strike at the Lakehead last week.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

It is about time someone produced a clearly defined, sharply analytical, and incontrovertibly undeniable clarification of the current transitional period from the cold war to the lukewarm peace.

Many international pundits are attempting this task, but they all seem to become inextricably entangled with their own polysyllabic and mainly interrogative attempts to interpret the multifold facets of the kaleidoscopic character of the so-called peace offensive.

I have yet to see an interpretation of the Malenkov-Dove axis unencumbered by the interrogative particle "if" produced by the professional observers best qualified to expound the complexities of the situation in a manner calculated to clear the mist of doubt from the cerebral processes of the homo sapiens in the public highway.

Therefore, although Between Times does not hold a card in the International Union of Commentators, Explainers, and Spacefillers, Inc., I feel it my simple duty to explain What Is Going On.

Are we at war? Are we at Peace? Will the Dodgers get a good left-handed pitcher?

These are all good questions, worthy of good answers.

To reach answers which will stand up in the light of what will happen, after it happens, we must go back into history.

What, for instance, of Genghis Khan? (Golly, we are back in history, aren't we?) For that matter, what of Napoleon, Trotsky, Cleopatra, and the 5-cent beer?

You can easily see, from the above statement, the necessity for clear thinking in a time of crisis such as now faces the whole western world, and, indeed, the whole eastern world, not to mention the arctic, antarctic, and antipodes.

Therefore, let us think clearly, and not be misled by oratorical perambulations designed to cloud the issue.

Does Russia mean the peace offensive? What is so offensive about peace? How big a peace is Russia entitled to? Shall Russia take the last peace on the plate, and run the risk of being an old maid?

It is obvious to even the most unlettered and uneducated dullard that the above is the crux of the situation.

Look at it this way (with your head a little on one side, and your eyes half closed): If Russia does not want peace, and does not want war, Russia must, for the very simple reason of plain self-preservation, enter a winning team in the British Empire Games.

Nothing less will keep Malenkov in the driver's seat with his shoulder to the wheel and his nose to the grindstone, calling names which will break no sticks and stones.

Don't you wish all the other international commentators would explain things in such crystal clear fashion?

COMMODORE K. DYER

Youngest Commodore in RCN History Commands Naden

The youngest commodore in the history of the Canadian navy will take command of the naval barracks at HMCS Naden Thursday morning.

He is 37-year-old Commodore Kenneth L. Dyer, DSC, until recently commanding officer of the aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, whose promotion from captain was announced by naval headquarters in Ottawa today.

Tall, slender, soft-spoken Commodore Dyer has packed more naval experience and action into his 20 years with the RCN than most men see in a lifetime. He was born in Toungoo, Burma, the son of an Indian army officer, came to Canada in 1928 and entered the navy as a cadet in 1933.

For the first four years of his career he trained with the Royal Navy, serving in the battle cruiser HMS Hood and the cruiser HMS Enterprise.

At the outbreak of the Second World War he was a junior officer in HMCS Saguenay, and in 1940 took part in the heroic withdrawal from Dunkirk.

As the submarine war built up in intensity, Commodore Dyer earned his first command—the destroyer HMCS Skeena—and very shortly after won the DSC for a brilliantly executed submarine kill in company with the corvette HMCS Wetaskiwin.

When Canada commissioned its first aircraft carrier, HMCS Warrior, in 1946, Commodore Dyer went aboard as executive officer, and served in that capacity until the ship was paid off in 1948, to be replaced by HMCS Magnificent.

His captaincy came in 1949, when he was only 33, and shortly after he took command of Magnificent.

Between his long hitches of sea duty, Commodore Dyer attended staff courses ashore, in Canada and the United Kingdom.

He will take over command of naval barracks at Esquimalt from Commodore Kenneth F. Adams, who leaves April 20 to become commander of naval division at Halifax.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1953

ESQUIMALT SECRETIVE ON SECOND CIGARETTE THEFT

Another Esquimalt burglary was reported overnight.

Police of the municipality confirmed reports that a fairly large quantity of cigarettes was stolen in a break-in at Fulmer's Drug Store, 1301 Esquimalt Road, but refused to give details.

It is understood the tobacco counter of the store was cleaned out.

On the week-end before last, Clubb's warehouse on View field Road in Esquimalt was raided when, as in the new burglary, police were reluctant to make details known.

Mayor Still Hopeful Mill Rate May Be Cut

Rough Passage for City Budget Of $7,044,357 Anticipated

City of Victoria's record $7,044,357 budget, calling for a tax rate of 56½ mills, may get rough passage when it comes before city council meeting Thursday for approval.

Mayor Claude Harrison said last week he would ask the council to consider cutting the rate by half a mill.

He and three of his council disagreed with the majority on passage of the 56½ rate at the final committee of the whole council meeting on estimates, March 31.

The mayor is still not satisfied with the budget. He contends people are paying more taxation on property than last year, even at the same tax rate, because of the increase in assessments.

"I think we can cut another half a mill," he said.

He and Ald. Macmillan objected to a suggestion that council "scratched to the bone" in 1952.

"We did not for we still had a surplus of $311,000," the mayor argued.

The mayor with Aldermen Macmillan, Brent Murdoch and Percy Scurrah favored a proposal of City Manager Cecil Wyatt for a 56 mill tax rate.

This proposal contained only $30,000 for contingency and Ald. Frank Mulliner claimed it was insufficient.

CONTINGENCY FUND

Council subsequently added $2,500 for Point Ellice Bridge maintenance. A motion from Ald. Don Smith for a 56½ rate to provide a contingency fund of about $52,000 was approved 6-4.

This fund is expected to create debate at Thursday's meeting, for if further whittling is done, the contingency item will feel it.

There is a firm body of opinion on council that the city should budget for at least a $60,000 contingency. Mr. Wyatt contends this is not necessary with the city's new accounting procedures.

He claims the new accounting set-up permits more accurate estimating of expenditure and revenue than was possible before.

Dominion Drama Festival committee, in conjunction with Community Drama office personnel, are working out details of forthcoming festival. Left to right, Col. Victor Mills, secretary; Jack Barraclough, committee member; Judge J. B. Clearihue, chairman; H. S. Hurn, director of Community Drama, and Miss Anne Adamson, secretary.

$1,000 PRIZE

Vice-Regal Party Here For Festival

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Govenor - General Vincent Massey and party will attend the Saturday night performance of the week-long Dominion Drama Festival, which opens in Victoria May 4, it was announced at a meeting of the festival committee Tuesday night.

On recommendation of adjudicator John Allen, invitations have been sent to eight groups which will compete for the Calvert trophy, the top cash award of $1,000 and other awards. The following plays have been selected:

"Burning Bright," by John Steinback, from the Regina Little Theatre; "Othello," Edmonton Studio Theatre; "Madwoman of Chaillot," Ottawa Little Theatre Saturday Players; "Dark of the Moon," London Little Theatre; "Family Reunion," University of Toronto Alumni Players; "Volpone," University of B.C. Alumni Players; "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," St. Joseph's University, New Brunwick, and an original Canadian play, "Zone," by Marcel Dube, produced by La Jeune Scene, Montreal.

CLEARIHUE PRESIDES

Judge J. B. Clearihue has accepted the chairmanship of the committee, following the resignation of W. T. Straith, due to the forthcoming election.

Jack Barraclough announced ticket reservations already on hand amounted to a total of $1,000, and box office will open 10 days before opening date of the festival.

It is expected that about 150 contestants will take part and there will also be many governors of the festival from out of town as well as visitors to the drama conference.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson, in charge of hospitality, described numerous activities planned for visitors, including a trip to Butchart's gardens, visit to naval dockyard and ships, tour of Royal Roads establishment and luncheons, teas, receptions and coffee parties, the latter to be tendered by Oak Bay Beach Hotel and the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria. There will also be a special performance of "Tzinquaw" at the York Theatre.

Alert Constable Cuts Short Ride In Borrowed Car

The sharp eye of Constable Robert Adrian at 1.15 a.m. today averted a car theft in Saanich.

The officer saw two sailors get into a car owned by L. S. Punnett, 3477 Douglas, and drive off. Suspicious of their actions, the officer stopped the car in less than 500 yards.

The result was Wilfred H. Calwell and James Clifford Tanner, both of HMCS Naden, appeared at a special sitting of the Saanich police court this morning and pleaded guilty to taking Punnett's car without his p mission.

They were remanded to Thursday afternoon's regular session of Saanich court for sentence.

MRS. T. C. SMITH

Victorian to Lead Liberal Women of B.C.

(By Times Staff Reporter)

VANCOUVER.—Mrs. T. C. Smith of Victoria has been elected president of the B.C. Liberal Women's Association.

The former president of the Victoria Liberal Women's Forum, a staunch and capable worker and organizer for the party for many years, Mrs. Smith was elected by acclamation Tuesday at the annual meeting in Hotel Georgia.

She succeeds Mrs. G. W. Kissick of North Vancouver.

B.C. Young Liberals' Association in an overflow annual meeting chose Roy Burns, Vancouver, as president, to succeed James J. Proudfoot, Victoria lawyer.

Mr. Burns won out over John Coates of Langford.

Vice-president is another Victorian, Vaughan Lion, now attending University of B.C.

UBC undergraduate Peter Day of Vancouver was elected treasurer and Margaret Gardiner, Vancouver, is the new secretary.

Cabinet Names B.C. Returning Officer Panel

The cabinet has made nine changes in setting up its panel of returning officers for the June 9 election.

The list was made known at the Parliament Buildings today.

In 32 of the province's 41 ridings the returning officers in last year's election will serve again. All Vancouver Island returning officers have been reappointed.

In Victoria, Alan B. Macfarlane will again be in charge of election machinery. George H. Gardiner, 1273 Hampshire Road, will again serve as returning officer in Oak Bay; Mrs. W B. Lea, Andrews Road, in Saanich, and A. I. Thomas, 864 Selkirk Avenue, in Esquimalt.

G. R. Bradbrooke, Duncan, is reappointed as returning officer in Cowichan-Newcastle; Nich olas Wright, in Nanaimo; Wilfred J. Pollock, in Comox, and William Johnstone in Alberni

New returning officers have been named for Vancouver Centre, Vancouver-Burrard, North Vancouver, Burnaby, Cariboo, Dewdney, Nelson-Creston, Rossland-Trail and Salmon Arm.

Cayuga Tests Gunnery In Two-Day Exercise

HMCS Cayuga will continue post-refit trials in Juan de Fuca strait Thursday and Friday, when she will test anti-aircraft and surface armament.

Firing will take place between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., in an area approximately between Race Rocks and Discovery Island.

Quadra Boulevard Removal Asked

Removal of boulevards on the east side of Quadra Street north of Hillside Avenue to Topaz is suggested in a letter to City Council today by Victoria Automobile Club.

Club directors protest what they term the "strangulation of traffic at Hillside and Quadra," particularly on Quadra beginning from the north side of Hillside.

They felt removal of the boulevards would provide parking space on both sides of the street and help to alleviate the traffic "block" at Hillside and Quadra.

Pavlukoff to Fight Death Penalty Here

Sentenced to Die for Bank Man's Slaying

The appeal of Walter Pavlukoff, convicted of slaying a bank manager in Vancouver, heads the list of criminal cases to be heard by the B.C. Court of Appeal when it sits in the courthouse here next Tuesday.

Pavlukoff, who was sentenced by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson to die on the gallows on June 23, will be represented in Appeal Court by lawyer Thomas Hurley.

The prisoner was found guilty on April 1 by an Assize Court jury of the gun-slaying of bank manager Sydney Petrie, killed in an attempted robbery in Vancouver on August 25, 1947.

Other criminal appeals will include the case of Albert Fairweather, 27-year-old Vancouver Island logger, who will appeal against a sentence of 10 years' imprisonment arising out of the death of Raymond Boyce, 24, Duncan, on September 19, 1951.

DIED OF WOUNDS

Fairweather was originally charged with murder but the jury reduced the charge to manslaughter. Boyce, the victim, died as the result of knife wounds, following a fight near Duncan.

While awaiting his appeal in Oakalla prison, Fairweather on two occasions has stabbed himself in the stomach. He is now fully recovered following a stay at the provincial mental hospital.

The Crown will also appeal the judgment of Judge J. A. McGeer who quashed a conviction involving a "lewd and filthy" stage production against seven persons connected with the performance of "Tobacco Road" in Vancouver.

Apart from criminal appeals the court will also hear at least eight civil cases.

FIRST WINNER of a $150 "President's Award" at Victoria College Tuesday was second-year student, Walter Young. The presentation is to be made annually to the student who has made the greatest contribution to college activities while maintaining good academic standards. President of the students' council and faculty advisors chose the winner. Mr. Young is a member of the students' council, Rugby player, emcee at many dances and organizer of many other activities. He is a graduate of Oak Bay High.

Nanaimo Pianist In Sunday Recital

Fourth in a series of Sunday afternoon musical recitals at the Arts Centre here this week will feature a Nanaimo student, pianist Miss Ruby Frood.

Local music pupils, Miss Marie Milburn, violinist, and Miss Lorna Stuart, pianist, will also entertain.

The programs are arranged by the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association and each of the recitals is provided by talented students of the group.

Selections this week will include some of the works of Mozart, Schubert, Bach, Chopin and Weniavanski.

Arts Centre curator Colin Graham has stated that the recitals, which are free to the public, are proving popular.

RARE BLOOMS ON EXHIBITION

Morning Glory's Cousin Among Gems on Display

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Anyone in want of inspiration for his garden should visit today and Thursday the annual show of the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society at the Crystal Garden, where some of the most exquisite plants in Victoria are on display.

The show is certain to arouse enthusiasm, for here in a medium-sized hall are to be seen some of the strangest and most fascinating plants to be found on the North American continent.

Some of these unfamiliar plants include cneorum convolvulus, a relative of the detested morning glory which runs rampant in Victoria. But what a difference! It is a gem compared with a weed.

CORKSCREW TREE

Who ever heard of a corkscrew tree? A small example of this quaint, twisting tree is to be found at the show.

Also among the many exhibits are some eye-catching rhododendrons, azaleas and primulas. There are also many types of conifers and shrubs which originates in Asia.

One of the finest collections of non-competitive exhibits at the show belong to J. G. Worth, 273 King George Terrace, whose garden has become a show place in Victoria.

The show also features a fine commercial display of daffodils, tulips, dwarf iris and ferns.

Commenting on the show, Major A. B. Morkill, president, said:

"The society is doing a great deal in introducing new plants, trees and shrubs to Victoria," he said. "The public can see some of the results at this show."

Several prizes are to be awarded for the best plants at the show. Among major awards are the Dr. C. T. Hilton Cup given annually to the exhibitor receiving the highest aggregate of points, and the Mrs. Biggerstaff Wilson trophy awarded to the most outstanding plant suitable for a rock garden.

There are also awards for child exhibitors and for the rarest plant in the show.

Little Boy Hurt In Car Collision

Four-year-old Leonard Bendrodt went to hospital this morning after running in front of a car. He suffered a fractured collar bone and possible head injuries. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bendrodt, 31 Maquinna.

Driver of the car was reported to be Kenneth Toey, 919 Dunsmuir. The accident took place at the corner of Irving and Fairfield Road.

94-Year-Old Son of Early Settlers Dies

After a lifetime of farming in the Saanich district, William Simpson died today in his 94th year.

Born in 1859, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simpson, who came to Victoria around Cape Horn in the ship Norman Morrison. William was the second baby born to white settlers in Saanich, according to the recollection of old-timers.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Thomas of Victoria and Mrs. Florence Blackburn, Langley Prairie; three sons, Reginald of Victoria; Walter, in Vancouver, and William Charles, Blubber Bay. A sister, Mrs. William Wain, Cordova Bay, and 12 grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. at McCall's, and interment will be at Colwood Burial Park.

Polish-Born Resident S. Bandrevick Passes

Stephen Bandrevick, Polish-born Victoria resident for the past eight years, died at his home, 821 Gladiola Avenue, Tuesday.

He was 60 years of age.

Besides his widow, Nina, he is survived by two daughters, Lydia and Amy.

Funeral services will be held at Sands' Memorial Chapel of Chimes Friday at 3 p.m., with interment at Royal Oak to follow.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—How long must one be a resident before being eligible to vote in the provincial elections? R.B.

A.—In order to be eligible you must be a British subject, have lived one year in Canada, six months in British Columbia.

Q.—In most recent national elections in Great Britain, Australia and Canada, what percentage of the eligible persons voted? R.B.I.

A.—In Great Britain 83 per cent voted in 1951, in Australia 96 per cent voted in 1951 and in Canada only 74 per cent voted in the 1949 federal election. This compared favorably with the 1948 figures for the United States, where only 51 per cent exercised their franchise.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Wash Day Comes as Sure as Sunrise; Make It Easy!

By PENNY SAVER

Did you get back to the old routine yesterday? Probably saved the washing to do today. If you did, we have a few ideas that may be helpful.

Did you know that old-fashioned soap flakes work better on linens and cottons and detergents do a better job on silks and nylons and some woolens? There is an excellent bleach on the market for these last-named fabrics that will restore the white, white, look to undies, blouses, and baby woolens. Found this powdered bleach in grocery department of one of our largest stores. Twelve ounces for 28 cents and 47 cents buys a 20-ounce package.

* * *

Here's something else to help take the rub out of some of your household chores. Brand new to Victoria is a silver polish that requires only to dip the article into it and wipe off, and there's your silver piece shiny and clean. This silver cleaner is to be found at the notion counter of one of the department stores. . . . 8 ounces for 98 cents; lots more, 20 ounces for $1.98. Mustn't forget to tell you that it is odorless. Twin sister to the above is an Oven Cleaner which should be a boon after all the holiday baking and roasting . . . 8 ounces cost 69 cents, and 12 ounces for 98 cents.

* * *

You have no doubt heard that industrialists find their workers produce more work with less tension when music is piped into the factories. Have you thought of trying the same idea at home? We have seen some neat little radios that are just the thing for anyone's kitchen—they come in many different colors and cost $29.95.

* * *

Let's move out into the garden to watch the birds! If they are made welcome on the front lawn they are much less likely to get into mischief where the vegetables and berries are planted. A piece of suet tied to a low branch will tempt many different kinds to visit. You can have happy hours of bird watching if you provide them with a shallow bath. One of the local shops is displaying a most attractive white plaster bird bath for only $3.99.

* * *

Feel like pampering yourself just the teeniest bit? For one little dollar you can buy at a jewelry shop a golden perfume flask for your handbag, it comes boxed with a matching funnel. A good idea for bridge prizes or for small remembrance to someone who is delightfully feminine.

* * *

It's now the season when the lollypop crowd turns its attention to jacks and skipping ropes. It seems that jacks will never change but the new plastic skipping ropes are wonderful, they just wipe off and so the days when damp, muddy ropes get in the way are gone—thank goodness. Jacks are 15 cents and skipping ropes 25 cents.

* * *

You'll be sure to find a hundred and one uses for a magic rick-rack braid that just irons into place. It comes in all colors and is guaranteed to withstand washing and dry cleaning. A package of 7½ yards costs 39 cents.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If Bulges Hide Curves, It's Time for You to Diet

There's a curve in every bulge! If you do not believe it, dig them out with diet and exercise.

Women are apt to forget that the curves of youth lie hidden under the fatty deposits of middle age. While the distribution of weight may change some as a woman gets older, there isn't a great difference. Overweight unfortunately seeks the abdomen, the hips, the waist and thighs in the overweight woman, although there may be a tendency in one to larger hips, while in another fatty deposits may be more pronounced on the abdomen or in rolls above the girdle.

Wherever that pie and whipped cream landed on you, begin digging out the curves which lie underneath. You can go a long way toward uncovering them in just nine days' time. At this time each year I give you my nine-day reducing diet which will bring you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days' time.

This exercise will help you dig out some of those hidden curves. It is a combination exercise whcih will reduce the stomach and hips. Lie on left side. Swing right leg backward as you swing right arm forward. Continue with a long, smooth swing. Reach as far as you can in each direction with the leg and arm. Lie on the right side and repeat, swinging left leg and arm.

Thursday's menus:

BREAKFAST

One orange.
One cup coffee.

LUNCHEON

One medium hamburger cake (cooked without butter and made of lean meat).
Celery sticks.
One glass skimmed milk.
Two raw carrots.

DINNER

Small lean steak.
One-half cup cauliflower.
One baked potato (no butter, medium sized potato has only about 90 calories).
One apple.

If you have missed any of the menus which have already been published or wish to have my nine-day diet booklet to keep in the kitchen or in your pocketbook, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

St. Ann's Fete Wednesday, April 15

The St. Ann's Academy spring fete, announced as taking place in the school today from 2 until 10 p.m., will not take place until next Wednesday, April 15, at the same time and place. Among various articles on sale during the afternoon and evening will be beautiful pieces of needlework done by the sisters.

Sprinkle this topping on your cake before you put it in the oven to bake. Stir together two tablespoons each peanut butter, granulated sugar and flour until crumbly, add one tablespoon strong coffee and ½ cup broken pieces of walnuts. Spread over cake batter. When your cake comes out of the oven it's frosted and ready to eat.

Montreal Women's Editor Glamorous as Her Name

BY ELIZABETH FORBES

A breath of Montreal sophistication and charm breezed into The Victoria Daily Times on Tuesday, in the person of Miss Helen Gougeon, women's editor of Weekend, this newspaper's popular Saturday magazine feature.

Tall and willowy, with Irish blue eyes and a creamy white complexion, brown hair and an intriguing smile, Miss Gougeon was chosen as one of 12 of Montreal's most glamorous women, in a recent article on the big city in Collier's Magazine. Her picture, done by Karsh, appeared in the article.

"I didn't like that picture!" she says. "I suppose because I was wearing a borrowed evening gown. My own came back from the cleaners that very morning a wreck. It was impossible to wear it!"

Glamorous as she is, Miss Gougeon started her climb to newspaper fame by way of the kitchen. She wrote a cook book in the days when she was working for the Ottawa Journal.

"Filled with recipes I discovered among members of the diplomatic services," she tells you. "We printed 2,000 copies and the 2,000 copies sold. But I didn't make a dollar on them. I guess I'm just not a business woman."

Cooking still takes up much of the Montreal girl's time, for in her work as women's editor of Weekend she writes a food column.

FINDS STORY HERE

"I try to find interesting recipes that Canadian women have tried out and know to be good," she says.

In this connection she interviewed Mrs. William Ellis in Victoria who had written to her taking exception to ingredients in one of her published recipes, and offering a better recipe for the same food dish.

"I've got a peach of a story for Weekend," she said enthusiastically.

In Vancouver she visited a famous steak house and charmed several well-guarded recipes out of the owner.

Miss Gougeon also writes a better grooming column for News Week under the non de plume of Elizabeth Wood.

In connection with her work she travels to many parts of Canada, and last autumn visited Europe.

From that visit has come three articles, one just published in Weekend on Italian fashions, and two others to be published soon, one on Paris cooking and a preview of Coronation days in England.

Miss Gougeon was wearing a black wool suit made in Italy, a shiny black straw pill box, out-size mother of pearl earrings, bangle bracelets, and a black and yellow striped stole, which she bought on the Pacific Coast. In Victoria she found several cashmere sweaters and Indian sweaters for her "numerous nieces and nephews."

This is her first trip to the Pacific coast.

"From now on I'll be here twice a year," she says, "and if I ever retire, I'm going to spend half my year out here and the other half in Montreal.

"Your weather and your flowers are fabulous," she concluded. "In fact it's positively indecent the way the flowers bloom.

"In Montreal I would pay a tremendous sum for half a dozen daffodils. Here, I can have great bunches for next to nothing."

Miss Gougeon is on her way to Port Alberni today to look into the story about a women's volunteer fire brigade in that district.

Pythian Sisters Temple Holds a Birthday Tea

Forty-seventh anniversary of Island Temple No. 8, Pythian Sisters, was celebrated at a birthday tea, Tuesday afternoon in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Store. Conveners were Mrs. Ethel Green and Mrs. Violet Maxwell.

Most Excellent Chief, Mrs. Constance Mullen was presented with a corsage of pink carnations before introducing Grand Senior Miss Vera Mesher, who opened the party. Miss Mesher, who received a corsage of pink roses, mentioned briefly some projects of the Temple, of which the cerebral palsy clinic at Jubilee Hospital is the most active effort.

Mrs. Mullen poured tea at a table covered with an ecru lace cloth and decorated with daffodils in a milk glass bowl and yellow candles in white holders. A large decorated birthday cake inscribed to the Temple, was cut by Miss Mesher. Mesdames Adela Banks, Winnie McKay, Kay Scoular, Jean Rhodes, Grace White assisted in serving. In charge of refreshments were Mesdames Ann Tasker, Daisy Dodd, Ada O'Brien and Ethel Amos. A wishing well was in the charge of Mrs. Maxwell and Mrs. M. Urwin looked after door receipts.

Miss Eveline Macdonald, Port Alberni, was an out-of-town guest at the tea.

Lillian Smith Married Amid Spring Flowers

Lilies, daffodils, iris and other spring flowers were massed in First United Church, to form a setting for Lillian Lettie Smith who became the bride of Gerald Roberts in a double ring ceremony recently. Rev. Moir A. J. Waters heard wedding vows for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Scott Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts, Redfern Street.

A crinoline gown in nylon net was chosen by the bride, given in marriage by her father. The ballerina length skirt was enhanced with rows of ruching, and strapless top was worn with a waist length jacket of Chantilly lace, with standing collar and lily point sleeves. Her veil of silk illusion net, hand embroidered and appliqued with lace, was caught to her head by a tiara formed of lace, seed pearls and diamente. Red roses, lily of the valley and white freesias formed her cresent-shaped bouquet and she wore a leaf design rhinestone necklace and matching earrings, gift of the groom.

Miss Audrey McCormick, maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Bradley and Miss Norah Coleman, bridesmaids, were gowned alike, in green, yellow and mauve net over taffeta, respectively. They wore floral bandeaux in their hair and carried bouquets of carnations and hyacinths.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Patricia De Forge, cousin of the bride, wearing a similar dress in ice blue, and the flower girl was Sharon Medler, in gold faille taffeta. Both carried a basket of spring flowers, iris, daffodils and fern.

Best man was Robert Lindal and ushering were Rodger Traill, Douglas Cook and Stanley Smith, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Verna Moore, accompanied by Mrs. R. Wood, sang "Because."

Reception was held at Lougheed's Banquet Hall, where Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Roberts assisted in receiving guests. Sprays of red roses and lily of the valley adorned the bridal table which was centred with a three-tier cake. Frank Saunders proposed the toast to the bride.

Blue-grey tailored suit, muskrat shortie coat and red and white accessories with orchid corsage, were worn by Mrs. Roberts as she left for a honeymoon in Seattle and Portland.

The newly-wed pair will make their future home at 1904 Leighton Road, Victoria.

Dowman-Smart Wedding in St. Andrew's Cathedral

Father M. O'Connell officiated at a Monday evening ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral, when marriage vows were exchanged between Juanita Joyce, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Smart, Victoria, and Irving Dowman, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Dowman, Upper Terrace Road.

Nylon tulle over white satin fashioned the bride's ballerina length gown. The skirt was appliqued with hand-made satin leaves and the strapless bodice was tucked and topped with a Spencer jacket of the satin. Her headdress was of orange blossoms, holding in place the veil of silk illusion net with hand-rolled edge. She carried red roses and white carnations. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. A. Patterson was matron of honor, in pink nylon net, and Miss Arline Furguson, bridesmaid, wearing turquoise blue nylon net. Leigh Hiscock was flower girl, her short frock being of blue nylon and she carried a basket of pink and blue flowers. Best man was Denis Dowman, and ushering were Alex Holland and Martin Hanley.

Pink carnations were used as a decorative note for the reception at Lougheed's Banquet Hall, and a three-tier cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, was cut.

Assisting in receiving guests were Mrs. Dowman and Mrs. Smart. Both wore navy blue ensembles and pink rosebud corsages. Toast was proposed by Stan Hiscock.

Departing on a motoring trip in the United States, Mrs. Dowman wore a pale blue suit with navy accessories. The young couple will make their future home in Victoria.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Food Basket for Church—Mrs. Stanley Horner presided at monthly meeting of the recently formed Women's Evening Guild, St. Matthew's Church, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Braithwaite. It was reported that proceeds from the candy and plant sale were $18.40. Funds for church hall will be raised by circulating a food basket. Future meetings will be held in the church hall on second Thursday of the month.

The Assistant Chief of Naval Staff (Air), Commodore C. L. Keighly-Peach, is a visitor in Victoria from Ottawa at present and is guest of Rear-Admiral J. C. Hibbard and Mrs. Hibbard at Admiral's House, HMC Dockyard.

Surprise Party for Visitor

Mrs. E. S. Parker, a visitor from Palm Springs, Calif., and Seattle, was honored Tuesday evening at a surprise birthday party at the home of her niece, Mrs. O. R. Griffin, 132 Niagara Street. The 25 guests were all members of the family of the late Mr. Peter Barr, Cordova Bay.

Entertains for Miss Wallace

Mrs. L. Elliott was hostess recently at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. D. Crowther, 2083 Carnarvon Street, the occasion being a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Beverley Mae Wallace, whose marriage to Mr. Herbert Seymour Kent takes place Saturday.

Gifts were presented in a box decorated in green and yellow. Miss Wallace also received a gardenia corsage and pink carnations were presented to Mrs. Thomas Rustige, mother of the bride-elect and Mrs. M. Aubrey Kent.

Invited guests were Mrs. F. McIlmoyle, Mrs. J. Crowther, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. B. Flintoff, Mrs. B. Bromley, Mrs. R. Muirhead, Mrs. E. Bowen, Mrs. B. Scotney and the Misses Norma Jones, Betty Snair, Frances Smith and Eileen Crowther.

Married Tuesday Evening

The marriage took place last evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiating, between Mrs. Marjorie Davidson and Mr. Frederick Durick. Following the ceremony a family reception was held at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Ford, Lincoln Crescent, after which the bride and groom left on the midnight boat for a honeymoon in the sound cities. On their return they will live in Victoria. Miss Peggy Davidson, daughter of the bride, flew out from Toronto for the occasion.

Friends Fete Joan Shirley

Miss Roberta Crombie was hostess Tuesday evening at the home of her parents, on Uplands Road, with a miscellaneous shower to honor Miss Joan Shirley, who is to be married on Saturday.

A gift of Revere Ware was presented to the honor guest with a gardenia corsage. Her mother, Mrs. Eileen L. Shirley, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. A. J. Thompson, received pink and yellow carnations.

Refreshments were served, buffet style, from a table covered with a hand-spun linen cloth and centred with a heart-shaped container filled with miniature spring flowers. Miss Norma Greig and Miss Elenore Straith, who is to be a bridesmaid at the wedding, presided at the urns.

Mrs. R. B. Crombie assisted her daughter in receiving and serving the guests. Others present included Mrs. Alex Straith, Misses Sheila Olson, Denise Yates, Geri Pearson, Bar-Jean Dawson, Heather Clark, Shirley-Anne Turner, Kathleen Stobart, Shirley Bonnell, Clare Collison, June Bell, Helen Usher, Veronica Hummell, Elizabeth North, Myrna Collison, Anne Bartholemew, Jackie Ivings, Margaret Simmons, Evelyn Rapanos, Anne Vickers, Peggy McNiven, Marguerite Gardom, Dayle Heal, Mary-Jane Cahill, Margaret Colburne, Barbara Whittington and Diana Kerr.

* * *

On a month's leave from HMCS naval radio station Coverdale at Moncton, N.B., WOCS2 Ruth Lidgate has arrived in Victoria to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Lidgate, Wascana Street.

Among those from Victoria who will attend the annual meeting of the British Columbia Registered Music Teachers' Association, to be held in Vancouver this week are Miss Mary L. Adamson, provincial registrar; Miss Noel Smith, president, Victoria Branch, and Reginald Cox, vice-president, Canadian Federation.

Miss Mary Wilson, bride-elect of this evening, was guest of honor at a party on Monday, given in the Fireside Room of St. John's Parish Hall by the Anglican Young People's Association. Miss Wilson, a member prior to her position as teacher in Prince George, received a corsage of red rosebuds. Pink carnations and hyacinths en corsage were presented to Mrs. S. E. Wilson and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. E. Schmelzel.

Shower gifts were contained in a decorative wishing-well. Spring daffodils and gleaming yellow candles centred the buffet refreshment table, which was covered with a lace-trimmed cloth. More than 25 guests attended.

Miss Lyla Little, an April bride-to-be, was guest of honor at a grocery shower given by Mrs. N. Lea and Miss P. Robertson at the latter's home. Gifts were presented to Miss Little by Heather Robertson. Guests included Mesdames J. Dirom, M. Hall, M. Burgess, H. Roach, M. Taylor, W. Young, A. Green, G. Cliff, E. Marochi, J. Robertson, N. Robertson, A. Davis, N. Shpiruk, Misses J. Hall, D. Burgess and M. Robertson.

Provincial Chapter, IODE Shows Growth

Procession of standards led by acting provincial standard bearer, Mrs. K. H. Bancroft, Vancouver, marked the opening of the 40th annual meeting of Provincial Chapter of British Columbia, IODE, in the Empress Hotel today. The president, Mrs. E. H. Pellant, Vancouver, presided, and reports of provincial officers were heard.

The secretary, Mrs. E. O. DuVernet, Vancouver, showed 97 primaries, seven juniors and five municipals in the provincial group. Primary members totaled 2,528 and juniors 108, making a grand total of 2,636.

During the year, Vancouver's Coronation Chapter celebrated a 50th anniversary, Mrs. DuVernet reported. Fortieth anniversaries were marked by Ruskin and Sir Charles Tupper chapters in Vancouver, and Sir James and Lady Douglas and Esquimalt in Victoria. Campbell Collins Chapter, New Westminster, passed a 35th birthday, and Delta Chapter, Ladner, a 30th year.

ORGANZATION WORK

Two junior chapters are growing up into primary status, the organizing secretary, Mrs. P. J. Keoughan, Chilliwack, reported, and the Peace River block is in process of organization.

In presenting the auditor's report, provincial treasurer, Mrs. C. Barrett-Lennard, Vancouver, showed that revenue of provincial chapter over expenses in 1952 left a balance of $32.42.

"The first time in a number of years that Provincial Chapter has not gone behind," she stated.

Statements of primary and junior chapters showed receipts of $60,965.81 and disbursements, $82,123.74, the treasurer said.

Other reports were given by Mrs H. L. Woolison, Victoria, Echoes secretary and that of the standard bearer, which was read for Mrs. R. C. McCorkell.

Formal opening will take place this evenigg at 8.30, in the Crystal Ballroom at the Empress Hotel when Mrs. Pellant will give her annual report. Sessions continue all day Thursday and Friday.

Strong Educational Program Assists Many B.C. Students

Assistance given British Columbia's youth by IODE chapters, through the order's broad educational program, amounted to $10,799.01, Mrs. Robert S. Gourlay, Vancouver, said in her educational secretary's report, at annual meeting of Provincial Chapter, IODE, in Victoria today.

Twelve chapters gave scholarships of $25 or more, totaling $890, to students for further study; 20 bursaries of $50 or more, totaling $1,625 were awarded and monetary assistance to the value of $402.55 given 27 students.

Eight isolated chapters gave nine bursaries totaling $800; nine chapters gave nine scholarships amounting to $715; eight chapters gave monetary assistance totaling $260.55.

The nurses residence at Powell River received an $80 library, a Teen Town was sponsored at Sidney, V.I., and basic English classes for seven children in Grades 1 and 2 were conducted at Lake Cowichan by a qualified teacher in the chapter there.

Thirty-two chapters in Vancouver Municipal spent $4,345.30 on Education; Victoria Municipal with 16 chapters, $1,980.35; Burnaby Municipal with six chapters and two juniors spent $344.40 and Chilliwack Municipal with four chapters, $176.90.

Donations to London House which is maintained for honor students from all parts of the Commonwealth, studying overseas, amounted to $435, to assist in the national project of endowing study bedrooms, each to cost $1,500.

Eighty-three chapters have adopted and assisted 135 schools, it was announced by Mrs. R. R. Shortreed, Vancouver, in her assistant educational secretary's report.

Magazine subscriptions, libraries and refills, calendars, prize books and pictures, rhythm band sets, knitted articles, warm clothing, rubber boots, film strip projectors, sight-saving paper and sewing cards for visually handicapped children have all been presented to various schools.

New Canadian citizens have been assisted, musical libraries given and awards presented for outstanding work in citizenship and for perfect attendance and punctuality. Special anniversary days have been marked and an encyclopaedia sent to a missionary in charge of an Indian school.

Clothing, Food Shipped, Hospitals And Clinics Helped

Total value of work done by IODE chapters of the province in services at home and abroad was $33,507.12, it was reported by convener, Mrs. Noel Abbott, Vancouver, at annual meeting of Provincial Chapter in the Empress Hotel.

Thirty-four crates of new and used clothing was shipped overseas, including 4,184 garments at a value of $7,428.

Eight hundred and sixty-three food parcels were sent to adopted families overseas at a total value of $4,800, and Christmas hampers given needy families in British Columbia totaled $1,472.61.

Forty-eight crates of clothing, valued at $7,327, were packed and sent for flood relief, and Christmas parcels sent to wounded men from Korea in hospital at Kure, Japan, amounting to $565.30.

NATIONAL FUNDS

A sum of $276.50 was voted to national British and European fund; $316.65 to seamen's amenities; $488.01 to cigarette fund and $171.50 to the shipping fund.

Besides these donations chapter members gave voluntary services at veterans, crippled children, TB and aged citizens' hospitals, cerebral palsy, children's and blood-donor clinics and orphanages, and donations of equipment totaling $4,062.19.

Commonwealth and Empire projects in British Columbia included showing of kindness and friendship to 24 foreign students in various parts of British Columbia, as part of the Colombo Plan. These included young people from Pakistan, India, Korea, British Guiana, Israel, Sweden and the Virgin Islands.

The convener, Mrs. V. C. Best, Salt Spring Island, also reported that $353.50 had been contributed by B.C. chapters to assist in raising funds to bring a nurse from the Vellore Christian Nursing and Medical College in southeast India to Toronto for a post-graduate course in hospital administration.

AS WE LIVE

Exhausted Mother Should Enlist Her Family's Help

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a mother of young children says she is "tired of" her children, she has no real reason to feel ashamed. She is not so much tired of the children as of the constant work they necessitate. That is why I am advising the mother who wrote the following letter to change her routine a bit:

Hurlock

(Q) "I am 32 years old and have four small children ranging in age from four months to six years. We live in very cramped quarters because our family grew faster than our budget. It seems that I do nothing from morning to night but straighten up, cook, clean, wash, iron and take care of the children. My husband does the shopping on Friday nights so I rarely get out of the house. When I do, I have to take the children with me. It isn't much fun to go visiting because it takes so much time to get the children ready and I have to watch them all the time I am out for fear they will get into mischief. They get on my nerves and I'm always snapping at them even if I do love them. I am afraid I'm not a very good mother."

(A) It is hard to be a good mother when you are tired and overworked. No matter how much a mother loves her children, she cannot work around the clock seven days a week without having it affect her health and, in turn, her disposition.

It should be comforting to you to know that this state of affairs will not go for the rest of your life. Children grow up quickly and are soon capable not only of doing things for themselves but also of helping to run the home.

Even now, your older children should be of some help to you. They can save you many trips in the house by doing errands, by looking after the younger ones, and by helping with the simpler domestic tasks such as setting the table, making the beds, and running the carpet sweeper.

Let your husband help too. Today men get much more time off from their work than they used to. Ask your husband to help out at home on his day off and over the week-end. It is not right for him to be working five days a week while you work seven. If you get some help at home, you will not be so tired and the children won't get on your nerves as they now do.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

Spring Tea Instead of Flower Show

A spring tea is planned by Victoria Horticulture Society at Britannia Branch, Legion Hall, Blanshard Street, this Friday from 2 until 10.30 p.m.

The afternoon and evening of varied activities has been organized by the women's auxiliary to the society to take the place of the Spring Flower Show which in former years has been held at Crystal Garden.

Flower arranging will be demonstrated in the afternoon by Mrs. W. J. Clark, and in the evening Alex Johnston will show colored films on subjects of local interest.

There will be exhibits of flowers and plants, and throughout the day plants of all types will be on sale.

W. L. Arnall, society president, 1634 Pinewood Avenue, is in charge of entries for competition. Tickets admit to both afternoon and evening sessions and include refreshments.

The Feed Bag Now Magically Appears in Women's Clothes

WINNIPEG (CP)—A fashion show held here recently proved that when Manitoba women talk about putting on the feed bag, they don't mean going out to lunch.

The Canadian feed manufacturer's division of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce presented the first exclusive collection of ensembles made completely from bags.

The show featured 18 outfits that started life as containers for flour, sugar, fertilizer and chick, turkey or hog starter. One ton of fertilizer in 100-pound bags gives the lady of the house 20 yards of usable print material.

Mrs. Gerald Dennehy, co-ordinator of the show, says the time when mother's homemade underwear featured the words "50 pounds bread flour" across the front is gone. Brand names now are printed in washable inks that come out easily in warm water.

The plain white bag of grandmother's day has been replaced during the last few years by gay cotton prints in plaids, floral designs, stripes, polka dots and checks. More farm women use cotton bags to outfit their families today than ever before, Mrs. Dennehy said.

It's come to the point where when father goes for 100 pounds of chick starter, mother goes along to pick the pattern.

Telephone Bridge—A sum of $87.50 was realized during the past month by the Rotary Ladies' Auxiliary through a telephone bridge, it was announced at recent luncheon meeting. Winners were Mrs. J. Godfrey, Mrs. D. Ford and Mrs. Lund. Guest speaker at the luncheon was Dr. Olga Jardine, and her subject, "Lebanon."

Frank Hobbs — Fathers conducted last meeting of Frank Hobbs PTA. Program included a skit written by Charles Russ and directed by Mrs. Barbara Smythe. Guest speaker was Dick Reeve, chairman, Greater Victoria School Board, who discussed the school building program, stressing particularly the need for many new classrooms in the immediate future to meet the rise in population in the Greater Victoria area.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Give canned cream of chicken soup a face lifting this easy way. Saute one tablespoon minced onion in a tablespoon butter. Stir in one can cream of chicken soup and an equal measure of milk. Blend until smooth. Heat thoroughly. Just before serving, add a diced half avocado.

Sunday morning is waffle and sausage time. Serve the golden brown waffles with plenty of butter and this warm fruit topping. Combine 1½ cups of apricot whole fruit nectar with ¾ cup honey and a dash of salt. Simmer them together about 15 minutes. It's wonderful on hot cakes or French toast, too.

SCOTT REFUTES ACCUSATIONS BY SOCRED PARTY OFFICIAL

W. A. Scott, president of an Oak Bay Social Credit group, has added his voice to those protesting remarks made Monday by Lionel Speller, a Saanich SC group president, with regard to latecomers to the party seeking nomination as Socred candidates.

Mr. Scott, who was accused by Mr. Speller of making unauthorized and irresponsible statements to the press, said he "absolutely refuted" all that Mr. Speller said.

"I consider principles of a party—any party—should be beyond personalities," said Mr. Scott.

"Mr. Speller, whom I have never heard of before, seems to be a member of a party clique trying to discredit Mayor Claude Harrison, W. C. Kersey and myself because we cannot stand by and see small-scale minds put into office to look after the large-scale proposition of government."

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1953—315.9 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: A cloud blanket in the southern part of the province kept most temperatures above freezing overnight, but points where skies were clear reported frost, as at Abbotsford, where the minimum was 31. Slow clearing is expected today. Thursday will be sunny over nearly all of B.C. and temperatures in the western portion will be somewhat higher than today.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Probably North and South were guilty of overbidding in today's hand, but the result was both pleasant and instructive. South happened to be Sylvester Lowery and North was Mrs. Olive Peterson—both Philadelphians, and both among the country's great players.

Lowery won the first trick with the ace of spades and looked for a way to justify his partner's confidence in his bidding. He needed a little luck in hearts, but there was nothing he could do about that.

He needed also to hold the loss in the minor suits to one trick in each, and there was a great deal to be done about those two suits.

Since there was only one entry to the dummy (the ace of clubs), Lowery had to decide whether to try a diamond finesse or a lead towards the queen of clubs. At first glance, it seems that South should use dummy's ace of clubs to take a diamond finesse, hoping later to lead a low club and find a doubleton king of clubs in the hand of either opponent.

Lowery knew a trick worth two of that. He found a way to use dummy's only entry for two finesses.

At the second trick declarer led the queen of diamonds from his hand. He expected to find the king of diamonds in the West hand, in which case a finesse against the king would be useless. As you can see, this play did not prevent him from finessing against the jack of diamonds later on.

West took the king of diamonds and led the queen of spades, whereupon Lowery ruffed. He next led a trump to dummy's ace and returned the ten of diamonds from dummy.

East saw no point in covering with the jack, and there was none. South could capture the jack with the ace and return to the dummy with the nine of diamonds.

When the ten of diamonds held, declarer was still in dummy and could now lead a club towards his queen. He had thus accomplished his object of using dummy's single entry for two finesses.

East might have made things difficult for declarer by playing the jack of clubs, but he actually put up the king. The rest was, of course, merely routine.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By RAY SIDAWAY

The mayor of mythical Summerfield feels that his son and Gildersleeve's nephew, Leroy, should get together and ask the water commissioner to introduce the boys during tonight's "Great Gildersleeve" program on KOMO at 8.30.

The young boys meet at Gildy's house, but the fun begins when the mayor's son asks Leroy's girl friend, Babs, for a date.

Arlene Dahl will star as the sinister "Thelma Jordan" on "Philip Morris Playhouse on Broadway" tonight on KIRO at 6. Charles Martin produces and directs the adaptation of the screen play about a woman who almost succeeds in thwarting justice by winning the love of the district-attorney.

The Duke University Men's Glee Club of 90 voices visits the "Perry Como Show" tonight on KTNT-TV at 6.45 for the eighth successive year.

CBC Wednesday night listeners are in for a double treat tonight when CBU presents poems by Lord Byron and a symphony inspired by one of his famous works.

Only 15 minutes of the program, which starts at 7.30, will be devoted to poetry reading, the rest of the time being taken up by the symphony, "Harold in Italy."

Frank Stockton's classic short story, "The Lady or the Tiger?" adapted for radio by Shelby Gordon, will be enacted on "Cathy and Elliott Lewis Onstage" tonight at 7 on KIRO.

The beautiful, self-centred Miridana faces a difficult decision when it is in her power to decide her lover's fate. Her signal will send him through a door where a man-eating tiger awaits him or through a second door where the pretty Flordelis, her rival, waits to be his bride.

There will be double-barreled trouble on "The Bob Hope Show" tonight on KOMO at 7 when Fred Allen drops in on the ski-nosed comedian.

This will mark their first meeting since Allen was one of the principal speakers at the Friar's Club testimonial dinner for Hope, Feb. 27 in New York. During the show, the pair will trade quips and will reminisce on show business.

TONIGHT'S HIGHLIGHTS: Drama — "Mother's Boy" will be presented on "Dr. Christian," starring Jean Hersholt on KIRO at 8.30. . . . Mystery—Susan Douglas stars as "The Imposter" on "FBI in Peace and War" on KIRO at 9. . . . Comedy—Red Skelton gets into more funny trouble on KOMO at 6.30.

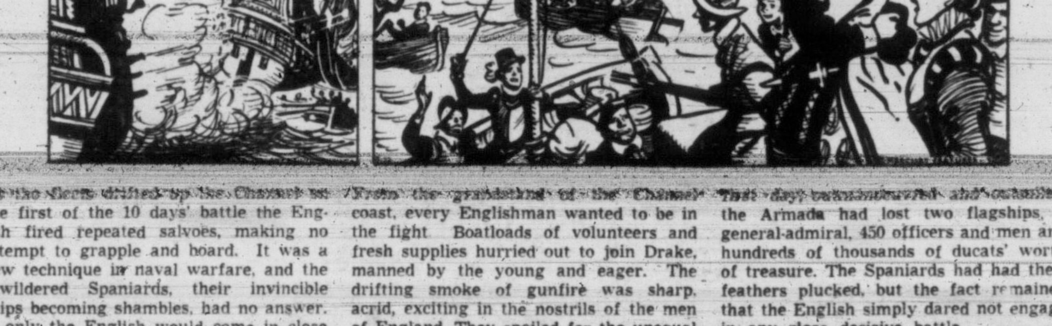
AN AGE OF GREATNESS

No. 81—Volunteers



As the fleets drifted up the Channel on the first of the 10 days' battle the English fired repeated salvoes, making no attempt to grapple and board. It was a new technique in naval warfare, and the bewildered Spaniards, their invincible ships becoming shambles, had no answer. If only the English would come in close and fight in the old, traditional manner!

From the grandstand of the Channel coast, every Englishman wanted to be in the fight. Boatloads of volunteers and fresh supplies hurried out to join Drake, manned by the young and eager. The drifting smoke of gunfire was sharp, acrid, exciting in the nostrils of the men of England. They spoiled for the unequal and defiant fight. And by the end of that

That day, outmanoeuvred and outsailed, the Armada had lost two flagships, a general-admiral, 450 officers and men and hundreds of thousands of ducats' worth of treasure. The Spaniards had had their feathers plucked, but the fact remained that the English simply dared not engage in any close decisive battle.

(Tomorrow: The elusive English.)

In No. One Tourist Centre. New equipment worth $8,000 selling for $5,500. Rent the building for $150 per month—living quarters—or rent the equipment and the building for $200 per month. Circumstances prevent the owner from operating so must sacrifice. This is one of the finest new restaurants to be built on the Island in recent years.

PROVEN INVESTMENT 19% SURE
Hotel in one of Vancouver Island's fast-growing and most prosperous towns. Beautifully located. Steady 12 month revenue of approximately $20,000. Expenses, including wages, $7,510. There is no work whatsoever for the owners to do except to supervise. Excellent suite for the owners. This is one of the best-equipped and furnished hotels on the Island. Throughout the week there are no vacancies; people are turned away daily. There is no guess-work in this proposition, the revenue is a well-established fact, the expenses are set, the difference your profit, $12,500. For a return as large as this one would expect to pay over $100,000, but the asking price is away below this. Terms are available.
For full particulars regarding any of the above, call J. M. Chesman or K. R. Liss, evenings, E 4833 or B 5865.

FAMOUS SHIP GOING?

LONDON (CP)—Capt. Robert Scott's famous ship Discovery, in which he sailed for the South Pole in 1910, may be towed from its berth on the Thames and broken up. It has been used as a museum and Sea Scout headquarters but upkeep costs are mounting and funds are dwindling.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS
WESTERN REGION

Sealed tenders will be received at the office of the Chief Engineer, Winnipeg, Manitoba, until two o'clock, Central Standard Time, in the afternoon of Tuesday, April 28th, 1953, for the construction of a covered loading platform for timber products, and retaining wall, at Vancouver, British Columbia.

Plans, specifications and form of contract may be seen and form of tender obtained at the office of the Chief Engineer, Winnipeg; District Engineer, Vancouver; and Division Engineer at Victoria, British Columbia.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on form supplied by the railway and accompanied by an accepted cheque drawn on a chartered bank in Canada in favor of Canadian National Railway equal to five per cent of the total amount of the tender.

No bid bonds will be accepted with tenders for this work.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

U.S., Belgian Troops Hold Off Red Chinese Strike

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese Reds slammed into Allied defenses in western and central Korea today, but battle-toughened United States marines and Belgian infantry forced them back.

B-26 bombers wiped out 130 Red trucks on north Korean highways during the night, while fighter-bombers blasted three rail bridges and a radio station at Haeju, in western Korea, the air force said.

Chinese Reds in company strength — about 175 men — stormed up Bunker Hill on the western front but were blocked by a marine patrol. The attack carried some Communists into Allied lines but the marines stopped the Reds cold.

Two Killed in Two Calgary Road Mishaps

CALGARY (CP).—One man was killed and another was fatally injured in separate traffic accidents Tuesday night.

Dead are W. A. H. Murdoch, about 70, and Joseph Rutkay, about 55.

Mr. Murdoch was killed when struck by a car as he walked across an intersection. Driver of the car, police said, was Alfred Frewin. He was not held.

Mr. Rutkay died in hospital six hours after he fell under a horse and buggy as he walked in a crosswalk on Langevin Bridge.

Kiwanis Paper Drive Seeks Charity Funds

Victoria Kiwanis Club has arranged a large-scale paper drive for Friday evening and Saturday this week. The collection depot will be the Speedway Service Station, Douglas at Queens Street.

Drive committee chairman Ed Green said today that, in order to diminish costs of collection and bring in more dollars for Kiwanis charities, no house-to-house canvass will be undertaken. The public will be asked to take the paper to the collection depot.

Accused Nitro Carrier Asks for Speedy Trial

Robert Douglas Morgan, of Vancouver, charged with unlawful possession of nitroglycerine, elected speedy trial when he appeared before Judge J. B. Clearihue here Tuesday. Trial was set for April 20.

Morgan was committed for trial following a preliminary inquiry before Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Engineer Groups Plan Joint Parley

Three meetings of importance to Victoria engineers will be held here this month.

The B.C. Engineering Society will meet at the Douglas Building Cafeteria Friday at 8 p.m. and the Engineering Institute of Canada will meet at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel on Tuesday, April 14.

The latter meeting, a dinner gathering, is set for 6.30 p.m. Speaker will be Col. L. F. Grant, field secretary of the institute.

The two engineering groups will hold a joint session on April 24, also at the Douglas Building Cafeteria, at 8 p.m. Assistant bridge engineer for provincial public works, A. B. Sanderson, will address the meeting on "The First Prestressed Bridge in Canada."

SIGN OF TIMES

KINCARDINE, Ont. (CP) — The Kincardine Men's Club is getting rid of the spittoons which have adorned the premises for 40 years. When the decision was made one member said "we'll miss them," bringing the obvious retort: "We always did."

MANY SHEEPSKINS

MONTREAL (CP) — About 600 Australian sheep contributed their hides for McGill University's convocation on May 27. It is estimated one sheep provides about two parchments, and McGill expects to graduate about 1,200 students.

Arnott Trophy Playoffs Set

Playoffs for the B.C. Electric Curling League's E. W. Arnott trophy will commence Sunday and continue for three weeks at the Victoria Curling Club.

Heath and Joseph rinks tied for group one laurels with five wins in seven starts during the regular league season. Sparshott's rink won division two with six wins and one loss, while Curry and Gordon shared third division honors with five victories and two defeats.

Mathews Leads Bike Riders In Time Trial

Alf Mathews copped first place in a restricted gear, unpaced time trial over a 25-mile Victoria-Sooke route Sunday as the Victoria Cycling Club opened its 1953 season.

Mathews traveled the course in one hour, six minutes and 22 seconds for the win. Rolland Chalmers captured second, just 63 seconds behind Mathews, and junior rider Mal Potts took third, five minutes behind Chalmers.

The club will hold its annual meeting at 521 Wilson Street tonight at 8. Interested parties are requested to attend.

Noted Artists to Aid Scottish Royal Revue

John Dunbar, popular Victoria baritone who was heard recently on the Singing Stars of Tomorrow radio program, and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, well-known soprano, will appear in the Scottish Revue of '53 at the Royal Theatre Monday night.

Adeline Duncan will direct the revue, which is sponsored by Victoria Nursing Home Auxiliary.

More than 100 dancers and pipers will perform the traditional Scottish dances, Irish jigs and hornpipes.

Two outstanding numbers will be "Our Salute to the Coronation" and "Bonnie Prince Charlie's Return." Small children will be featured in "Grannie's Highland Dream."

Guest artists appearing from Scotland will be James L. MacKenzie, world's champion Highland dnacer; Pipe Major John McLellan of the 1st Batt. Seaforth Highlanders and Seumas MacNeill, director of the College of Piping, Glasgow.

JOHN DUNBAR

Prize Deluge For Victoria Fun Paraders

National Network Broadcast April 27

There will be 233 prizes won in 135 minutes by Victorians who see the "Fun parade" broadcast here on April 27.

The weekly national network program will originate in the Memorial Arena.

The prize-list includes everything from a television set or a suit of clothes to a wrist watch or a case of baby food . . . in all, nearly $2,500 worth of loot.

And it's easy to be a winner . . . sometimes, that is.

Grandpa may have to do a hula in a grass skirt or mom and pop might have to deck themselves as kiddies and play hopscotch at the corner of Yates and Douglas . . . but the prizes are worth it. It's all good, clean fun.

Roy Ward Dixon, who emcees the show, may be remembered by veterans here. During the war years he took "Fun Parade" to camps, canteens and hospitals all over the country. With the war's end the idea of regular tours remained. One tour brought the show to Victoria in 1950.

In its 13 years' existence, "Fun Parade," which is heard at 9 p.m. Fridays over CJVI, has tortured more people than the inquisition, then mollified them with armloads of prizes. According to radio authorities that is the formula for a successful show.

NEW HOSPITAL

SASKATOON (CP) — The federal government has agreed to contribute more than $1,000,000 to the cost of building the University of Saskatchewan Hospital here.

POPULAR PERFORMER Pauline Barnett, soprano, will appear as flirtatious Madame Popoff in production of Franz Lehar's "Merry Widow," to be staged April 23, 24 and 25 at Royal Theatre by Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society. A leading player in many past shows of the society, she was last seen in the 1952 production of "Red Mill."

Room for 10 More At College School Of French Cooking

Thirty persons have registered to date for the French cookery course to be given by Mrs. Mabelle Andison at Victoria College evening division starting Monday night at 7.30 for one week.

There is still room for 10 more "students" as the class limit is 40.

Mrs. Andison gave a course on French cooking at the College last spring that proved so popular a repeat performance was requested.

The new series of informal, demonstration-lectures is intended as a complementary course in the art of French cooking and is directed both to those who enjoyed the last course and newcomers.

Emphasis will be placed on hors d'oeuvres, canapes, fish, desserts, special dishes and on the proper use of wines, herbs and seasonings.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) (B For Rainy Days)
C (To put in time)

(A) "BATTLE CIRCUS" (Royal)—Played without tears, bravado, phony histrionics and the usual patriotic glomph (I don't know what the word means either). "Battle Circus" is as interesting a show as you will find in town.

The surface isn't bad fare. It's about a love affair between war-calloused doctor Major Jed Webbe (Humphrey Bogart) and winsome nurse Lieut. Ruth McCara (June Allyson). But the real interest lies in the methods used by a surgical unit behind the Korean lines, how the tents are raised, the lighting, the use of helicopters for the removal of prisoners and the carrying in of blood plasma, the methods used to evacuate the casualties and so on.

Watching Bogart, Allyson, Keenan Wynne and Robert Keith one wonders what will happen when many of these old-timers eventually retire. Because for all Hollywood's frantic searching for new names and faces, if it wasn't for many of these veterans, plus invitational roles by Broadway stars, the studios would be in a sorry fix.

In "Battle Circus" Bogart is just Bogart. I'll say this for him, he never pretends to be anyone else. June Allyson is winsome and looks like the perpetual girl-next-door who should be in jeans. Most powerfully played of the secondary roles is executed by Wynne as the ex-circus roustabout. He is excellent.

The actual battle scenes, which were filmed at Camp Pickett, Virginia, are most realistic.

I'm sure you will like "Battle Circus."

On the same bill with "Battle Circus" is the Academy Award-winning cartoon, "Johann Mouse." In animated Strauss-time this is something that should be seen if possible.

41 Cuban Youths Are Charged With Sedition

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Forty-one youths arrested in connection with an Easter Sunday attempt to seize a Cuban military base were charged in court Tuesday with sedition. They were ordered held without bond. Seven others who had been held were released because they are under 18.

Here's how this new ride has been engineered.
It's a steadier ride because of a wider frame, lower centre of gravity, wider rear springs.
It's a more level ride, result of synchronized springing and scientific weight distribution.
It's a softer ride because of new principle Oriflow shock absorbers and the new, wider, softer springs.

$10 Car Fee, No Meals Tax In Liberals' New Platform

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

VANCOUVER—B.C. Liberal convention this afternoon defeated a proposal to raise the sales tax from 3 to 5 per cent and eliminate hospitalization premiums.

H. J. Swencisky, president of the B.C. Hospitals Association, put the motion. The additional 2 per cent sales tax would have been used to pay hospital costs.

Mr. Swencisky's motion retained a $1-a-day co-insurance clause.

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter

VANCOUVER.—A reduction in car licenses to $10, abolition of the 3 per cent sales tax on meals, removal of co-insurance and re-establishment of the Labor Relations Board on a full-time basis were promised today by the B.C. Liberal Party meeting in convention in Vancouver.

With 761 enthusiastic dele-delegates, a turn-out which has tremendously cheered party chieftains, the convention is framing a platform on which to go to the voters in the June 9 election.

In promising reduced car license fees the Liberals are out-doing the Social Credit government which has pledged only a 10 per cent cut.

Similarly, the pledge to remove sales tax on meals also goes farther than the Socreds. They have proposed to increase the exemption from 50 cents to $1.

The Liberals also promise to remove sales tax on all purchases of 30 cents and under. The present limit is 15 cents.

Here is a summary of the proposed Liberal platform. There will be certain amendments as the convention debates the various planks.

If the Liberals are elected in June, the platform will be the basis for government policy.

Socreds Will Win 40 Seats, Bennett Says

KELOWNA (BUP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett predicted Tuesday night that the Social Credit Party would capture 40 of the 48 seats in the June 9 provincial general election, and hinted the Social Credit planned to enlarge the B.C. Hospital Insurance Scheme shortly.

The Social Credit leader addressed an overflow meeting at Kelowna Tuesday night, defending the government's pay-as-you-go program, criticizing opposition parties for voting against the Rolston Formula and blaming the Liberals, CCF and Conservatives for blocking the Social Credit attempt to bring down progressive legislation.

CIO-AFL Unity Talks Off to Good Start

BY ALAN ADAMS

WASHINGTON (UP)—Surprised officials of the AFL and CIO agreed today there is a "fighting chance" that current negotiations will lead to merger of the two big labor organizations.

The union chiefs buckled down to the task of trying to build a single 12,000,000-member "House of Labor" with a new optimism. It grew out of a "surprisingly successful" opening unity conference Tuesday.

Top-level committees, led by presidents Walter P. Reuther of the CIO and George Meany of the AFL, held a three-hour session and came up with a long-range working plan that could lead to merger.

As the first step, a six-man sub-committee headed by Meany and Reuther was appointed to draw up recommendations to halt "raiding" between rival AFL and CIO unions in the same field. Bitter clashes in such industries as textiles and electrical manufacturing have been frequent as one union sought to oust the other as bargaining agent for the workers.

LAING SAID READY FOR LEADERSHIP

Johnson Resigns Liberal Command

VANCOUVER (CP)—A move to consider leadership candidates before the rest of the party platform was dealt with was defeated at the Liberal party convention this afternoon.

By GORDON FORBES

VANCOUVER—The name of Arthur Laing, MP for Vancouver South, will go before the Liberal convention in Vancouver today for the provincial leadership of the party.

The announcement came from informed Liberal quarters during the noon recess of the delegates, following the resignation as party chief of former premier Byron I. Johnson. The convention accepted the resignation.

ACCLAMATION?

It is understood here Mr. Laing has accepted the nomination for leadership. And there is a strong possibility it will be by acclamation.

A last-ditch effort to draft Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to accept leadership of the Liberal party shaped up earlier.

Highly placed Liberals said a "draft Sloan" cry may still come at this afternoon's session regardless of the fact the chief justice has given no official indication he will be willing to resign from the bench to lead the Liberals in their uphill fight to regain power.

Duncan Teacher Heads BCTF

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. V. (Bill) Allester, 32-year-old principal of the Duncan Elementary School, today became the youngest person ever elected president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

An air force veteran and a graduate of Victoria Normal School and the University of B.C., Allester was the choice of the BCTF executive. He won the presidency without opposition at the annual convention here.

NEW YORK (AP)—Trio Stable's Laffango won the $22,600 Experimental Free Handicap today in a close finish at Jamaica, as the favored Ben Whitaker's Tahitian King finished out of the money.

Eight eligibles for the Kentucky Derby, including Laffango, were in the field of 13 three-year-olds.

Laffango defeated Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Slim by a neck. Another length away in third place was Saxon Stable's Invigorator. Tahitian King, the 6-5 favorite, finished sixth.

Laffango paid $8.50, $5.90 and $4.60 and netted $15,400 for his victory.

B.C. Youth Barred From Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Vancouver youth who traveled to Winnipeg in a stolen car with a 17-year-old girl was barred today from Manitoba for the next five years. Edward Stenson, 18, pleaded guilty of retaining the stolen car. He was given a suspended sentence for five years on condition that he leave the province within 48 hours and not return during the sentence.

Disarmament Talks to Start

UN Adopts Western Plan Despite Soviet Appeal for Modification

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly today adopted a Western plan for disarmament talks despite a strong appeal by Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky to modify it in the interests of East-West harmony.

The vote was 52 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with three abstentions.

The assembly agreed, however, to one of Vishinsky's suggestions. It adopted, without a vote, his appeal that it drop commendation of the work the disarmament commission has done so far.

The Soviet delegate also proposed that the West agree, in order to "meet the Soviet Union half way," in making concessions, that the assembly drop references to the original resolution which set up the disarmament commission last year.

This was turned down, 33 to 10, with 13 abstentions.

U.S. delegate Ernest Gross and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb argued that eliminating references to that resolution could give the impression the West was abandoning its insistence on international control of atomic energy and a balanced reduction of armed forces. Both factors are mentioned in it as directives to the commission.

Vishinsky replied the proposed change would not imply in any way that the United States had given up support of the previous resolution.

He called attention to "new relationships which are arising before our eyes." Apparently this was a reference to Kremlin peace overtures. He added: "Events do not always take the shape tomorrow that they took yesterday."

In a brief speech Vishinsky claimed that "in an effort to reach agreement the Soviet delegation deems it possible not to press for adoption of its own resolution."

The draft, which the assembly's political committee defeated, called for immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb and a one-third across the board arms cut by all the big powers.

UN sources said a search of the records showed that this is the first time in the UN's seven-year-long debate on disarmament that Russia has failed to revive a defeated proposal in the assembly. It is also the first time that a Soviet spokesman has discussed disarmament without coupling it with a violent attack on the United States.

MAU MAU LEADERS GET SEVEN YEARS

Jomo Kenyatta, Five Lieutenants Found Guilty of Kenya Terrorism

KAPENGURIA, Kenya (Reuters)—Jomo Kenyatta and his five lieutenants were found guilty today of managing the Mau Mau terrorist cult and were sentenced to seven years in jail.

The terror-ridden colony had waited tensely for the outcome of the trial of Kenyatta, eloquent and picturesque London-educated leader of the Kenya African Union.

Judge Ransley Thacker sentenced each of the accused to the maximum term — seven years with hard labor for managing and assisting in the management of Mau Mau, three years with hard labor for being a member of the proscribed cult, all sentences to run concurrently.

The judge noted Kenyatta took part in a Mau Mau oath ceremony in 1950, that he had administered a Mau Mau oath on another occasion, and on a third occasion he held an oath ceremony in his home.

The Mau Mau oath, a black-magic ritual, is used to induct new members into the sect and pledge them to secrecy in attacks against whites and Africans who co-operate with whites.

Meanwhile security forces killed 21 Mau Mau terrorists in clashes Tuesday, it was officially announced today in Nairobi.

PRIEST IS WARNED

The dead included six of a band of 100 who attacked a mission in the Aberdare foothills, bent on executing a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. P. J. McGill. Warned by friendly Kikuyu tribesmen, Father McGill made an eight-mile trip through Mau Mau territory to a police post. A patrol was sent out and intercepted the raiders, killing six of them.

In the forest in the Kiambu area, British soldiers killed three terrorists and another military patrol shot two near the uplands.

A third military patrol surprised a gang emerging from a forest in the Kiambu area and killed five of them.

The last contingent of soldiers flown to Kenya from Britain arrived at Nairobi today, bringing the total to 1,500 in eight days. By Thursday, all troops will have reached their posts.

Many Still in Subway Wreck

Rescuers Working Under Difficulty in Epping Tube

LONDON (CP)—More than 25 persons were killed tonight when two trains collided on the heavily-traveled Epping subway line in East London.

Rescuers emerging from the tube said they believed many passengers were still trapped two hours after the collision.

Workers dug into the wreckage by the light of emergency flares.

The trains were traveling along a subway line running to Epping, residential suburb 20 miles from central London.

One woman passenger told reporters:

TERRIFIC CRASH

"We left Stratford station and the train stopped and started several times. There was a terrific crash and a big flash and smoke."

D. A. Walker, another passenger, explained:

"We came up behind another train and went slow, then we stopped. While we were stopped another train came and hit us in the back."

The crash occurred just where the line dips into a tunnel outside the Stratford station.

Eight ambulances went to the scene and doctors with morphine clambered through the tunnel about 100 yards from the above-ground Stratford station to treat the injured.

Between 20 and 30 injured were taken to St. Mary's Hospital and others were reported still coming in.

Police said at first three trains were involved in the main crash but later explained the third train entering the tunnel was believed only to have nudged the wreckage.

TRAPPED IN COACHES

Two of the trains were traveling in the same direction to Epping, a suburb 20 miles from central London.

A large number of passengers were known to be trapped in the first two cars of one of the trains. They were still hemmed in an hour after the crash at 7 p.m. local time.

RESCUERS HAMPERED

Rescue workers in the tunnel were handicapped by the narrow space. Stretcher-bearers had difficulty in making their way along the tunnel.

Some passengers able to walk were led from the train and along the tunnel back to Stratford where some were treated for shock.

Wakeful Boy Foils Plot to Kidnap Banker

PORT MOODY, B.C. (CP)—A bandit plot to kidnap bank manager Bob Wood, his wife and three children failed here today.

Four masked men attempted to break into the Woods' home at 5 a.m., but the noise of a ladder scraping at a bedroom window awakened 11-year-old son, Denny.

Wood is manager of a branch here of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Police said the men, knowing the bank vault was regulated by a time clock, apparently intended to kidnap the Wood family and hold them captive until Wood could open the vault.

"What do you think you are doing down there?" Wood shouted. The men fled in two cars, beating their way through police road blocks.

Rubber Firms Plead Guilty

TORONTO (CP)—Five rubber companies accused of operating a combine in the restraint of trade pleaded guilty today before Mr. Justice W. R. Treleaven of the Ontario Supreme Court.

"There is nothing left for me to do but impose sentence," said his lordship.

However, Thomas Phelan, Crown prosecutor, asked permission to review the cases before sentence was imposed. He asked the maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine for each company.

The companies are the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada, Dominion Rubber Company, Dunlop Tire, Gutta Percha Rubber Company Ltd., and B. F. Goodrich

Mr. Phelan said evidence would prove the companies fixed prices to the detriment of the public. He said they also concealed the price-fixing and conspired to control materials and the offering of tenders.

Today's case concerned only what is technically described as "mechanical rubber goods," including hose, belting and miscellaneous rubber products.

Coronation Seats Assured For Canadians

OTTAWA (CP).—All Canadians who have requested seats for the Coronation will get them and there are still some seats for late applicants, it was learned today.

But the physical task of preparing and mailing the reservations is taxing the force of about 25 workers, and applicants must be patient, said a Coronation committee spokesman.

To date there have been applications for slightly more than 8,000 seats. Reservation tickets are being printed in the United Kingdom and are not expected to reach the committee until about May 1.

Allocations were made on a first-come first-served basis and all the covered seats were taken up at the end of last December.

RCMP CONSTABLE STOPS NEAR-PANIC IN THEATRE

Special to The Times

COURTENAY.—An off-duty RCMP constable, George Grey, averted a possible panic of some 300 persons when fire broke out in the projection room of the Bickle Theatre here Tuesday night.

The fire started when the film broke, jamming the projector.

The sound had stopped and smoke and flames appeared on the projection screen. Flames were coming from the projection window, then someone yelled "fire."

There was a wild dash of people heading for the two front doors. They were jamming the exits when Constable Grey, a patron, yelled "Sit down and you won't get hurt."

The panic died down and everyone walked out in an orderly way.

EIGHT AMBULANCES RACE TO STRATFORD STATION

BULLETIN

LONDON (AP)—Police said three trains collided on a subway line tonight and heavy casualties are feared. Eight fire engines and eight ambulances went to the scene.

The collision took place near a tunnel.

The accident occurred near Stratford, on the Central Line, which takes commuters from the heart of London to densely-populated residential areas of eastern London.

The subway runs partly above ground in this area.

Queen Mary's Hospital in Stratford and St. Andrew's, Bow, were advised to prepare for casualties.

Socreds Will Win 40 Seats, Bennett Says

Premier Hints BCHIS To Be Enlarged Soon

KELOWNA (BUP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett predicted Tuesday night that the Social Credit Party would capture 40 of the 48 seats in the June 9 provincial general election, and hinted the Social Credit planned to enlarge the B.C. Hospital Insurance Scheme shortly.

The Social Credit leader addressed an overflow meeting at Kelowna Tuesday night, defending the government's pay-as-you-go program, criticizing opposition parties for voting against the Rolston Formula and blaming the Liberals, CCF and Conservatives for blocking the Social Credit attempt to bring down progressive legislation.

He asked that the voters "give us a clear majority in the next election and we will show you what ye can do."

UNDER WAY MAY 4

Bennett, who left for a week's vacation before returning to Victoria, said he planned to lead an active campaign. He said the Social Credit drive would get under way May 4 with all cabinet ministers visiting every constituency.

The premier hinted that the Social Credit government plans to enlarge the hospital insurance scheme within the near future. He said the new plan would benefit both premium payers and hospitals, but he declined to elaborate. He indicated, however, that an official announcement may be made in Victoria at a later date.

COURTENAY.—An off-duty RCMP constable, George Grey, averted a possible panic of some 300 persons when fire broke out in the projection room of the Bickle Theatre here Tuesday night.

The fire started when the film broke, jamming the projector.

The sound had stopped and smoke and flames appeared on the projection screen. Flames were coming from the projection window; then someone yelled "fire."

There was a wild dash of people heading for the two front doors. They were jamming the exits when Constable Grey, a patron, yelled "Sit down and you won't get hurt."

The panic died down and everyone walked out in an orderly way.

LAING SAID READY FOR LEADERSHIP

Johnson Resigns Liberal Command

By GORDON FORBES

VANCOUVER—The name of Arthur Laing, MP for Vancouver South, will go before the Liberal convention in Vancouver today for the provincial leadership of the party.

The announcement came from informed Liberal quarters during the noon recess of the delegates, following the resignation as party chief of former premier Byron I. Johnson. The convention accepted the resignation.

ACCLAMATION?

It is understood here Mr. Laing has accepted the nomination for leadership. And there is a strong possibility it will be by acclamation.

A last-ditch effort to draft Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to accept leadership of the Liberal party shaped up earlier.

Highly placed Liberals said a "draft Sloan" cry may still come at this afternoon's session regardless of the fact the chief justice has given no official indication he will be willing to resign from the bench to lead the Liberals in their uphill fight to regain power.

Chief Justice Sloan is in Vancouver today, but naturally hasn't been at the convention.

SLOAN OBDURATE

Meanwhile, it is understood top Liberals have met Chief Justice Sloan several times in the last 24 hours in an effort to persuade him to accept the leadership.

Early today, many Liberals were optimistic that the chief justice may agree. However, that optimism waned later in the morning. Lunch-hour talks are expected to clarify the situation.

There is a chance former premier Byron Johnson may be asked to carry on, and the name of Sidney Smith, former MLA for Kamloops, has also been mentioned as a possible leader.

Party Drafts Appeal For June Election

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter

VANCOUVER.—A reduction in car licenses to $10, abolition of the 3 per cent sales tax on meals, removal of co-insurance and re-establishment of the Labor Relations Board on a full-time basis were promised today by the B.C. Liberal Party meeting in convention in Vancouver.

MRS. NANCY HODGES
. . . chairs convention.

With enthusiastic delegates, a turn-out which has tremendously cheered party chieftains, the convention is framing a platform on which to go to the voters in the June 9 election.

In promising reduced car license fees the Liberals are out-doing the Social Credit government which has pledged only a 10 per cent cut.

Similarly, the pledge to remove sales tax on meals also goes farther than the Socreds. They have proposed to increase the exemption from 50 cents to $1.

The Liberals also promise to remove sales tax on all purchases of 30 cents and under. The present limit is 15 cents.

Here is a summary of the proposed Liberal platform. There will be certain amendments as the convention debates the various planks.

If the Liberals are elected in June, the platform will be the basis for government policy.

21-Point Program Outlined

Here are the points:

1. Reduced taxation.

2. A specific annual appropriation for construction and improvement of secondary roads.

3. Complete the PGE Railway from Prince George into the Peace River district and ensure a most adequate connection with Vancouver as soon as possible.

EDUCATION

4. Consolidation of all teacher-training facilities under a college of education under the supervision and control of the education department.

5. Seek additional federal grants for UBC and for vocational education.

6. Bring additional relief to municipalities and rural areas by the province assuming 80 per cent of the cost of education (now under debate by delegates).

7. Establish a faculty of dentistry at UBC.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

8. Removal of co-insurance.

9. Payment by the government from consolidated revenue of premiums for citizens of low incomes.

LABOR

10. The Labor Relations Board, which was placed on a part-time basis by the Socreds, to be reconstituted as a full-time board.

11. Amend the Workmen's Compensation Act as recommended by Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan.

12. Revise the ICA Act at the next session.

LIQUOR

13. Redraft the Liquor Act in accordance with the result of the 1952 plebiscite to allow sale of liquor by the glass on a local option basis.

FORESTRY

14. Appoint a Royal Commission at the next session to make a further survey of forest resources and industry — particular study to be given to the position of the small operator. In the interval, the operators to have the option of using either the B.C. log scale or the cubic content scale.

15. Garibaldi Park to be turned over to the federal government for development as a national park.

CIVIL SERVICE

16. Arbitration rights for civil servants.

17. Equal pay for equal work, regardless of sex.

18. Amend Civil Service Act and Superannuation Act to permit employment of persons over 45.

AGRICULTURE

19. Remove existing inequities in education costs on farm and ranch lands.

20. Establish a vocational agricultural school and a veterinary college.

EMPLOYER-EMPLOYEE RELATIONS

21. Establishment of research facilities to investigate all phases of employee participation in industry with a view, to encouraging employee-employer partnership.

Chairman of the platform committee was Mrs. Nancy Hodges, one of Victoria's MLA's since 1941.

The convention accepted the resignation of former Premier Byron Johnson, who has led the party since 1947.

The former premier reviewed his old government's record and said in the five years he headed the Liberals "I have no regrets." He mentioned his resignation as leader was dated July 23 last year.

He told delegates if they come out of today's convention strong and united, "nothing can prevent the election of a Liberal government June 9."

"It rests with ourselves today," Mr. Johnson said. "There is a great opportunity for the Liberal party to come back."

The convention accorded Mr. Johnson a prolonged ovation, and there were cheers from several sections of the convention hall.

MAU MAU LEADERS GET SEVEN YEARS

Jomo Kenyatta, Five Lieutenants Found Guilty of Kenya Terrorism

KAPENGURIA, Kenya (Reuters)—Jomo Kenyatta and his five lieutenants were found guilty today of managing the Mau Mau terrorist cult and were sentenced to seven years in jail.

The terror-ridden colony had waited tensely for the outcome of the trial of Kenyatta, eloquent and picturesque London-educated leader of the Kenya African Union.

Judge Ransley Thacker sentenced each of the accused to the maximum term — seven years with hard labor for managing and assisting in the management of Mau Mau, three years with hard labor for being a member of the proscribed cult, all sentences to run concurrently.

The judge noted Kenyatta took part in a Mau Mau oath ceremony in 1950, that he had administered a Mau Mau oath on another occasion, and on a third occasion he held an oath ceremony in his home.

The Mau Mau oath, a black-magic ritual, is used to induct new members into the sect and pledge them to secrecy in attacks against whites and Africans who co-operate with whites.

Meanwhile security forces killed 21 Mau Mau terrorists in clashes Tuesday, it was officially announced today in Nairobi.

PRIEST IS WARNED

The dead included six of a band of 100 who attacked a mission in the Aberdare foothills, bent on executing a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. P. J. McGill. Warned by friendly Kikuyu tribesmen, Father McGill made an eight-mile trip through Mau Mau territory to a police post. A patrol was sent out and intercepted the raiders, killing six of them.

In the forest in the Kiambu area, British soldiers killed three terrorists and another military patrol shot two near the uplands.

A third military patrol surprised a gang emerging from a forest in the Kiambu area and killed five of them.

The last contingent of soldiers flown to Kenya from Britain arrived at Nairobi today, bringing the total to 1,500 in eight days. By Thursday, all troops will have reached their posts.

Wakeful Boy Foils Plot to Kidnap Banker

PORT MOODY, B.C. (CP)—A bandit plot to kidnap bank manager Bob Wood, his wife and three children failed here today.

Four masked men attempted to break into the Woods' home at 5 a.m., but the noise of a ladder scraping at a bedroom window awakened 11-year-old son, Denny.

Wood is manager of a branch here of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Police said the men, knowing the bank vault was regulated by a time clock, apparently intended to kidnap the Wood family and hold them captive until Wood could open the vault.

"What do you think you are doing down there?" Wood shouted. The men fled in two cars, beating their way through police road blocks.

DISCORDANT NOTE ENTERS PW DEAL

UN Protests 'Incredibly Small' Number To Be Exchanged by Reds

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists said today they are ready to send home 600 disabled prisoners of war—a figure that includes only 150 Americans and other United Nations soldiers.

The chief allied negotiator, Rear-Admiral John Daniel, told the Communists their figure was "incredibly small," and asked "that you have these figures reviewed."

He said later, however, that "I have no reason to believe at the present time that they are not acting in good faith."

The Allied protest on the Communist offer was the stiffest statement yet made in the three-day conference. It was the first note of discord in the otherwise smooth negotiations which Tuesday resulted in agreement in principle to exchange disabled POWs.

The UN command offered to return 5,800 sick and wounded Communists—5,100 North Koreans and 700 Chinese. This is seven per cent of the 83,000 pro-Communist prisoners and four per cent of all prisoners held by the Allies. The Communist figure of 600 is five percent of the 12,000 to 13,000 UN and Korean prisoners the Reds say they hold.

ONE CANADIAN

The only Canadian listed in the United States armed forces list of prisoners obtained from the Communists is Gnr. John Jenkins, Royal Canadian Artillery of Hamilton Ont.

Both sides named lower-level staff officers to work out administrative details of the exchange. The staff officers went into session immediately after the liaison groups adjourned for the day.

Daniel asked the Communists for a complete revised text of the draft agreement on transfer of sick and wounded, so the UN command could consider any changes "in one package and arrive speedily to the items which are controversial." The Communists have agreed to the main points of Daniel's plan, and said they will submit their versions of the rest.

Coronation Seats Assured For Canadians

OTTAWA (CP).—All Canadians who have requested seats for the Coronation will get them and there are still some seats for late applicants, it was learned today.

But the physical task of preparing and mailing the reservations is taxing the force of about 25 workers, and applicants must be patient, said a Coronation committee spokesman.

To date there have been applications for slightly more than 8,000 seats. Reservation tickets are being printed in the United Kingdom and are not expected to reach the committee until about May 1.

To accommodate those who may be leaving for abroad before that date, the committee is mailing vouchers bearing the seat numbers and locations, which may be exchanged for the tickets in London.

Allocations were made on a first-come first-served basis and all the covered seats were taken up at the end of last December.

U.S. Moscow Envoy To Call on Churchill

LONDON (BUP).—Charles E. Bohlen, new U.S. ambassador to Moscow, will make a surprise visit to London today to sound out British opinion of the Soviet peace campaign.

Bohlen will fly from Paris this afternoon and return to the French capital within 48 hours to continue his journey to Moscow with a stopover in Bonn, Germany.

His unexpected one-day visit came as Prime Minister Winston Churchill took over the ailing Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's affairs. Eden goes to a hospital today for a major operation.

WIRE BRIEFS

Scientist to Wed

LONDON (AP)—Sir Alexander Fleming, 71-year-old discoverer of penicillin, took out a license today to marry Mrs. Amalia Courtsouris, a 40-year-old divorcee. The scientist's first wife died four years ago. She had one son.

River Freed of Ice

EDMONTON (CP) — The North Saskatchewan river ice below the high level bridge in Edmonton "went out" Tuesday afternoon.

To Confer in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Gen. Omar Bradley will fly to Europe next Tuesday to attend military conferences and inspect U.S. bases.

Damage Exceeds Loot

VANCOUVER (CP)—Safe-blowers escaped with $1,000 early today after blowing a large safe in the office of the Sterling Laundry here. The blast wrecked the safe, blew the door off the office, and shattered windows.

Jeep-Laden Ship Sunk

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia (UP)—The 2,000-ton Swedish freighter Elsie Thorden, carrying a cargo of wood pulp and 50 jeeps, ran aground and sank at the entrance of this port Tuesday and was abandoned by her crew. There were no casualties.

CIO-AFL Unity Talks Off to Good Start

BY ALAN ADAMS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Surprised officials of the AFL and CIO agreed today there is a "fighting chance" that current negotiations will lead to merger of the two big labor organizations.

The union chiefs buckled down to the task of trying to build a single 12,000,000-member "House of Labor" with a new optimism. It grew out of a "surprisingly successful" opening unity conference yesterday.

Top-level committees, led by presidents Walter P. Reuther of the CIO and George Meany of the AFL, held a three-hour session and came up with a long-range working plan that could lead to merger.

As the first step, a six-man sub-committee headed by Meany and Reuther was appointed to draw up recommendations to halt "raiding" between rival AFL and CIO unions in the same field. Bitter clashes in such industries as textiles and electrical manufacturing have been frequent as one union sought to oust the other as bargaining agent for the workers.

TO OPEN PARLIAMENT

WELLINGTON (Reuters) — The Queen will open a special short session of Parliament during her visit to New Zealand next January and will personally read the speech from the Throne, it was announced today. The speech will be broadcast.

5 Rubber Firms Plead Guilty of Combine

TORONTO (CP)—Five rubber companies accused of operating a combine in the restraint of trade pleaded guilty today before Mr. Justice W. R. Treleaven of the Ontario Supreme Court.

"There is nothing left for me to do but impose sentence," said his lordship.

However, Thomas Phelan, Crown prosecutor, asked permission to review the cases before sentence was imposed. He asked the maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine for each company.

The companies are the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada, Dominion Rubber Company, Dunlop Tire, Gutta Percha Rubber Company Ltd., and B. F. Goodrich

Mr. Phelan said evidence would prove the companies fixed prices to the detriment of the public. He said they also concealed the price-fixing and conspired to control materials and the offering of tenders.

Today's case concerned only what is technically described as "mechanical rubber goods," including hose, belting and miscellaneous rubber products.

In politics or otherwise, th' kind o' platform t' avoid is th' kind with 10 steps in it.

STOCKS GETTING VERSE?

London Paper Consoles Brokers

LONDON (AP)—The News Chronicle squeezed out a few rhymed crocodile tears today for market speculators who are feeling the pinch of possible peace.

In an editorial dedicated to London's City brokerage district and New York's Wall Street, the Liberal newspaper versified as follows:

"Many a tear will be shed today and many a heart will bleed for the men in the City and Wall Street in the hour of their agonized need.

"The news is all over the world today, from Saskatchewan to Greece. The peril is past denying; it seems that we might have peace.

"There's many a share to unload today; for who will want aircraft or tin if the governments start disarming, and stockpiling starts being sin?

"Somewhere in Aunt Agatha's attic today there should be a lamp-shade about. It's one like a ship made of old Russian scrip, and it may be the only way out."

British investors own about £50,000,000 worth of Czarist Russian bonds. Many are beautifully printed on costly parchment, and the owners—hardly expecting to get any money from the bonds—have turned them into lamp shades.
